

S.S.F. Flood Control Project: Expensive

At the council's request, the consulting firm also presented an estimate of "the number of homes in the Francisco Terrace Subdivision that are in danger of flooding as a result of a ten-year storm."

"During the storm of Jan. 29, 1968, 29 homes were flooded," Larson noted. "This is the most severe flooding that has occurred in the area since this subdivision was constructed."

"However, it is possible that a worse condition could occur in the future, with continuing upstream development in the Colma Creek watershed," he said.

"An additional one-half foot rise in the water level would cause damage to approximately 50 homes."

Mayor Frank Bertucelli informed Francisco Terrace residents present at the meeting that the council is "now prepared to move" on some sort of solution to the flooding problem, and action will be forthcoming in the near future.

"We just received this report this afternoon," Bertucelli said, "and we will need a little time to study it."

He said homeowners will be notified later this week of a public hearing in the matter.

"I promise you we intend to make every possible effort to obtain some sort of relief by the end of this year," the mayor said.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE . . . that Ed Cereghino, the baseball "bonus baby" of the 1950's, views his recent appointment as principal of Jefferson High School with the SAME "enthusiasm" that he greeted his signing with the New York Yankees for some $85,000?

Obviously, it's his attitude that has seen him zoom through the ranks, so to speak, from teacher to principal, over a relatively short period of time.

THREE JEFF HIGH officials this week started "new" years with a sizeably chunk of longevity with the district — from Dr. Hal Tonini's "little" nine to Lou Martin's 17 and "old man" Glenn South's 27.

ALSO, Jeff's Dr. Ada Wood was retired "twice" in the last couple of weeks — first from the U.S. Navy and then from the high school district.

Supt. Edward Morgan pointed out this week that a multi-colored Assembly resolution was to be forthcoming . . . but a state printer erred . . . couldn't believe Dr. Ada Wood, the woman officer, could be a full Navy commander, and the resolution referred to her as a "him."

Assemblyman Leo Ryan's staff caught the error . . . and the printer's been informed Dr. Wood is a "she."

Council Denies Tract Application

ments of the city's subdivision ordinance.

School district officials and members of the Westborough Homeowners' Association agreed upon a compromise arrangement last month which would have allowed development of seven of the 11 parcels, with four reserved for landscaping the entrance to the school.

However, in a letter to the council last week, officials of the homeowners' group indicated they had reversed their position, and would hold out for preservation of all 11 parcels for use as open space, landscaping, or possibly a small park.

Last night's hearing was the third public meeting the council has held to consider the dispute between school officials and homeowners, and Vice Mayor Andrew Rocca stated he doubted whether "the council should ever have assumed a role in the conflict."

"After all, the land belongs to the school district, and not the city," Rocca said. "They can do whatever they want to do with it."

Supt. Paul Nielsen has maintained the school district is in dire need of funds, and sale of the property is the only way to obtain the necessary revenues at the present time.

Homeowners have stated the proposed development would be "a detriment to the neighborhood," and would set undesirable precedents for future land use in the city.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli supports the homeowners on that point.

"How can we expect commercial developers to adhere to the proper landscaping standards, when public institutions fail to do so," Bertucelli said.

The parcel map was rejected on grounds that it failed to meet city requirements for recreational areas.

"YOU NAME IT . . . and it's yours!" someone said of this Howard Frankhouse photo, which we thought looked somewhat like the messy works of a leaky pen. Despite a number of other incorrect descriptions, we got to keep it anyway as a portrayal of Thursday's Fourth of July observances in the North County. We also had difficulty in figuring which end is up, until we learned the picture is a negative print of some fireworks bursting in the air.

Trustees Question Pacifica Student Tax

By WILL E. THOMAS

Jefferson High School District Trustees Al Teglia of Daly City and Jim Cooper of Pacifica plan to attend a hearing tonight in Pacifica of a proposed sewer users' rate structure that suggests additional financial commitment by the school district.

That at least these two trustees would attend the 8 p.m. hearing on an ordinance introduced on July 12, was indicated when trustees Monday night learned of the Coastside city's proposals.

The word came from Trustee James Cooper, who had left the room in the middle of board re-organization to talk with, he said, a member of the Pacifica City Council.

Cooper explained that the city council, in its ordinance, would require an annual sewer charge of $1 per student, based on the ADA of the previous year, plus ten per cent.

President of the Board of Trustees Edward Solomon wondered if the move wasn't "double taxation." He asked that a copy of the Pacifica ordinance be forwarded to the county district attorney's office for review.

Solomon questioned whether or not a student could be assessed legally at both home and at school.

"I understand," Cooper commented, "this is not without precedence."

There was some indication — though no one was certain — that San Bruno schools had some arrangement with the city of San Bruno that required a flat annual charge, someone said $10.

And that fee was considered, on the face of the proposal Cooper was talking about, to be a somewhat different matter, at least in total dollars.

The board did not go on record opposing the rate proposals and did not want opposition expressed.

However, it was pointed out that the two trustees could pass on the fact that the school district pays for all the water at the Terra Nova swimming pool, even when it is used as a public plunge under auspices of the municipal recreation department.

The water tab for the entire year at Terra Nova, is expected

Identify Two In Attack On SSF Attendant

Two men arrested in the fatal shooting of a San Francisco policeman in Golden Gate Park last month have been identified as the suspects sought in the brutal beating and robbery of a South San Francisco service station attendant, police said yesterday.

Detective Jack Rhodes said Walter Hankel, 57-year-old employee of Jax Shell Station in South San Francisco, "positively identified" Donald Caldwell and Edgar Allen Jr., as the men who held up the station early on the morning of June 19.

The two were apprehended after a shootout which resulted in the death of Officer Peter McElligott and wounding of Officer Frank Reed about 2:45 a.m., June 19.

Both the suspects were also wounded during the shootout. The South San Francisco service station, located at 123 Linden Avenue near Bayshore Freeway, was held up about 12:35 a.m., and Hankel was beaten with a pistol. He was hospitalized with head injuries which required several stitches.

Caldwell and Allen have also been accused of holding up two other service stations in the Parkside and Sunset Districts of San Francisco shortly before the shootout in the park, and the automobile they were driving was stolen.

coat with bulging pockets, Crowther asked him what was in the pockets.

James stepped back, the officer said, and reached inside the coat. Crowther drew his gun and ordered James to remove the coat. He did and revealed several cameras slung around his neck. Several additional cameras were in the pockets, Crowther reported.

While attempting to search James, the officer said, the fireman became violent. Half Moon Bay Police Officer Fran W. Doran Jr. came by at that moment and helped Crowther subdue James and get handcuffs on him. Crowther suffered a sprained thumb in the struggle.

D.C. Reservist Attends Camp For Officers

Walter T. Filliman, son of Mrs. Barbara Filliman, 867 Commercial Avenue, South San Francisco, a student at the University of California at Davis, is attending Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps summer camp. The course began June 9 at the Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

His six-week training program at the encampment includes instructions in physical conditioning, leadership, rifle marksmanship and taking part in field exercises.

Graduating from college and successfully completing summer camp training are necessary before he may be commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

Cadet Filliman is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

income groups meaningful jobs. Since the program was introduced, interest among the city's business and community leaders has been increasing. A business leadership group, with James V. Grealish chairing the Steering Committee, has been meeting for the past seven weeks, every Thursday for breakfast.

The participants discuss problems encountered, possible leads on job openings in the city and related items they think might be of interest regarding the employment program.

"The paramount objective for these jobs because we recognize the limitations in our city," These "limitations" are due to the fact that Daly City is a bedroom community and has little industry, therefore only a limited number and type of job opportunities exist.

Bryant also thinks one of the main functions of the project is to "interpret in lay terms government poverty programs." Asked if the center only considered Negroes for employment, Bryant replied "absolutely not."

"As a matter of fact, we have fewer Blacks working here than other races," Bryant pointed out. Exact figures were not readily available because records no longer indicate a person's race, he said.

Orlich, who has been assigned to the Work Experience Program for the past two years, predicted he would have some 250 kids working this summer.

Bryant, who confessed he was very optimistic about the program revealed that last year the total of summer jobs was 53 "and 50 percent of them were for three days or less."

This year Bryant has already cornered 65 jobs and most are of longer duration.

"I'd say this represents a tremendous gain over last year," Bryant said.

S.S.F. Student Saves Child's Life at Beach

A small boy's life was saved AT Montara Beach Thursday thanks to the heroism of a 15-year-old South San Francisco High School student.

The rescue was made after a young Daly City man nearly lost his own life while trying to save the child.

Mike Burris of 327 Valencia Drive, South San Francisco, a sophomore at South San Francisco High, said he was walking along the beach at 2 p.m. when a woman called to him and asked if he could swim.

"I said no," Mike related, "because I thought she wanted me to retrieve a ball or something. But then she told me that a little boy had drowned."

Young Burns said he couldn't see the boy in the water but did see a man, obviously in trouble, crawling out of the surf. The man was Robert A. Cattaneo, 20, of 157 Hillside Boulevard, Daly City, who, although he cannot swim, had gone into the surf to rescue the little boy. The child struggled with him, however, and started pulling him under and Cattaneo lost his grip.

Mike then spotted the child, four-year-old Anthony Sarria of San Francisco, as he was being buffeted by a large breaker. The youth plunged in and got the boy and carried him out of the water.

"He was unconscious and wasn't breathing," Mike related.

A woman who was not identified started mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and Mike pushed on the child's stomach. Breathing had been restored by the time an ambulance arrived.

Mike said he was told that the child had been playing in the surf with other children when a wave knocked him down. It was about five minutes before the other children told Anthony's mother, Mrs. Donna Sarria, Mike said. Mrs. Sarria tried to go into the surf with Cattaneo but, being a nonswimmer, was unable to make it to her son.

The little boy and Cattaneo were taken to Mary's Help Hospital for a check-up. Both were released after treatment.

5-Year Rap For Banker From Colma

Floyd C. Morgan, 45, Colma, was sentenced Tuesday to five years imprisonment for embezzling funds from the Bank of California where he was an assistant vice president.

Morgan was charged with misappropriation of funds totaling $117,000. He pleaded guilty to three counts involving $45,000.

Authorities said the embezzlements took place between the early 1960s and his arrest last spring. They said the money was taken by transferring funds from the main San Francisco bank to his account in a branch office, United Press International reports.

U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter sentenced Morgan to three five-year terms to run concurrently. He said Morgan would be eligible for parole at any time.

Deutsch Is Winner Of Music Award

A graduate student studying musical composition, Stephen F. Deutsch, 22, who now resides in Daly City, was winner of this year's Paul Masson Award. He is attending San Francisco State College and is the student of Dr. Henry Onderdonk, associate professor of music.

The award is made possible by a grant from the Paul Masson Vineyards through its "Music at the Vineyards" programs presented each summer. One hundred dollars is given annually to an outstanding music student who is majoring in composition.

Deutsch was born in Brooklyn. He was a student of piano and theory in the preparatory division of the Juilliard School of Music when he was in elementary school. Deutsch attended high school in Dallas and received his BA degree in music at Southern Methodist University in 1967.

Two Teeners Hurt as Car Overturns

Two teen-agers were injured Sunday when their car overturned near Capuchino High School in San Bruno.

San Bruno police said the injured were Robert M. Costa, 18, of 176 Elm Avenue, San Bruno, the driver of the car; and Steven M. Amoroso, 17, of 6841 Helen Drive, Millbrae.

Both were taken to Peninsula Hospital.

Police said Costa was driving his car north on Barcelona Drive, near the entrance to Capuchino, at 3:20 p.m., when he lost control.

The car overturned and rolled into a section of chain-link fencing at the school.

In a later San Bruno accident, a 60-year-old San Francisco woman suffered knee injuries in a three-car accident at the intersection of Skyline Boulevard and San Bruno Avenue, at 6:47 p.m.

Police said Merwin F. Mortimore, 45, a rigger from Mill Valley, was attempting to make a left turn west onto San Bruno Avenue when his auto collided with a car driven north on Skyline by Beatrice M. Watson, 63, 1579 Forty-third Avenue, San Francisco.

The Watson auto in turn smashed into a car driven by Lance E. Williams, 23, of 760 Lockhaven Drive, Pacifica, police said.

She was treated at Kaiser Hospital, South San Francisco, but not admitted, police said.

SALES ROUND-UP — For the third time this model year, Chrysler-Plymouth Division broke its all-time monthly sales record as May came in with total retail deliveries of 90,124 new cars. It marked the ninth consecutive record sales month for the Division.

The previous high for any month in divisional history was posted in March when 87,623 units were delivered. Plymouth sales for May totaled 70,190, also a divisional record for any month. Chrysler sales of 18,899 set a divisional record for the month, topping the previous high of 18,313 posted in 1965. For the month, the Plymouth Satellite series was the big gainer, up 68 per cent over the same month last year on sales of 24,155 vs. 14,391.

Retail sales of cars and trucks by western area Dodge dealers hit an all-time high for the month of May, according to N. K. Harris, western area sales manager. The San Francisco region, reflected a combined car and truck increase of 35.1 per cent over the same period last year.

Harris said that for the model-year-to-date, cars and trucks totaled 79,123 units, for a 24.9 per cent increase over the first eight months of the 1967 model year.

Ford's Cortina — registering spectacular sales gains of 85 per cent on the first four months of 1968 — moved up to No. 7 position in the import car race a Ford executive said today. During the January 1-April 30 period, Cortina sales totaled 7,734, compared to 3,965 in the same period last year, he said.

Ronald Platt, Ford Division's imported vehicles manager.

In California, where approximately 22 per cent of all imported cars in the U.S. are sold, Cortina also is doing well. A total of 1,490 Cortinas were sold the first four months of this year through the 129 Cortina dealers in California, up to 58 per cent over the 944 sold during the January 1 — April 30 period in 1967.

Dragonetti Motors of San Mateo, which recently celebrated its first year as an imported car dealer has been awarded the American Motors Rambler franchise for the San Mateo area, according to owner Dick Dragonetti.

Dragonetti is not new to the Rambler line of automobiles as he was with Rambler for six years, from 1959 to 1965. In May of 1967 Dragonetti was awarded the Datsun franchise for San Mateo.

The show room and complete service and parts facility for both Datsun and Rambler is located in San Mateo's auto row on El Camino and 28th Avenue. The remodeled facility includes a new customer waiting lounge complete with music, cold drinks and coffee.

Dragonetti says he is happy to be with Rambler again — it's like being home again after a long vacation.

The first device to be permanently attached to the steering column of a car to make it virtually immovable and prevent theft of the vehicle has been announced by Translok, Inc., New York.

This new protective device, named Translok, was designed with a triple purpose in mind — as a prevention against the rapidly increasing rate of auto thefts; as a silent protector against accidental shift by a child; and as a cautionary measure, to keep a parked car from accidentally moving if the gears slip or the parking brake fails.

Translok is installed on the shift column of the steering wheel, opposite the gear selector, on any automatic transmission car, locking it in "park" position. Once installed, it can't be tampered with or easily removed.

Upon parking a car, the driver simply places the gear selector in "park" position, and depresses a button in the Translok cylinder. This inserts a locking pin into the gear selector column so that it cannot be moved to any other position. It can be unlocked only with the European-made keys, which are part of the Translok package.

The unit, which has operated satisfactorily after being subjected to extensive testing, is designed so that the radio, heater, air conditioner and lights can be operated while the gear selector is locked in "park."

This new product is available at new car dealers, locksmiths, service stations, auto supply stores, and other outlets.

Fazackerly Cadillac has opened a new used car and leasing facility in the Brentwood Shopping Center of South San Francisco.

Frank Bertucelli, South San Francisco mayor, joined Fazackerly officials in dedicating the North Peninsula location on El Camino Real.

Key Fazackerly executives at last week's grand opening ceremonies were L. J. (Lou) Fazackerly, president; T. S. (Terry) Fitzgerald, general sales manager; and W. C. (Red) Morrow, in charge of the used car department.

These officials noted that the new Brentwood facility will sell one owner Cadillacs and other selected makes, will house a rental company where current model cars will be available by the day, week or longer, and where current model Cadillacs may be rented for special occasions.

Fazackerly-Brentwood will supplement and be closely coordinated with Fazackerly, Stonestown, the firm's first location.

THE BRENTWOOD area in South San Francisco is the home of the Peninsula's newest automotive firm, Fazackerly Cadillac. Participating in ribbon-cutting ceremonies last week were (left to right): W. V. McDonald, Cadillac zone manager; L. J. "Lou" Fazackerly, president of the firm; and Frank Bertucelli, mayor of South San Francisco. The agency will deal in one-owner Cadillacs and other selected makes and will house a rental company.

Rezoning At Adobe Approved

Pacific's City Council Wednesday night approved — on a 3-2 vote — an application for rezoning of property next to the historical Sanchez Adobe site from garden apartment (R-3-G) to neighborhood commercial.

The development site is the southwest corner of Adobe Drive and Linda Mar Boulevard, adjacent to 950 Linda Mar.

On a 4-2 vote the city's planning commission previously approved the rezoning request, submitted by James J. Magrin on behalf of Victor Magrin.

Magrin submitted to councilmen a petition containing the names, he said, of 120 residents of the area who favor the bid to rezone.

However, at a council meeting earlier this month, a petition opposing the commercial utilization of the site was presented. It included 46 names.

This week Telegram said he thought this particular development would provide the highest and best use of the land.

Others favorable to the project spoke of increased business to bring in additional money, which would be of assistance to taxpayers, and of convenience for the housewife who would not have to drive for certain types of shopping.

However, those speaking in opposition charged there would be increased traffic and a distraction from the Adobe.

550,000 ACCOUNTANTS

NEW YORK — The New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants says there are more than 550,000 accountants in the United States. Of these, about 100,000 are certified public accountants who are licensed to make independent audits.

The council was urged by Councilwoman Grace McCarthy and Councilman Rich Wallis to stall any zoning action pending the results of a general plan study, anticipated within the next 16 to 18 months.

City attorney John Sherman pointed out that a special ordinance would be required to hold off on all municipal rezoning.

It was Sherman's opinion that the study was not as valid a reason for denying the Magrin application as possible traffic hazards, for example.

What Mrs. McCarthy feared, she indicated, was the setting of a precedent that would lead to progressively more "commercialization" of the area.

Mayor Nick Gust, who favored approval of the application, said, "No one is trying to cheapen this area."

Gust, Councilman Dan Modena who moved approval of the request, and Harland Minshew comprised the majority vote.

State Asked For Overhead Phone Cables

Aerial telephone cables along San Bruno Avenue immediately east and west of Junipero Serra in San Bruno are only temporary, Pacific Telephone explained today.

"We had all our telephone cable underground in that area before and we will again as soon as the state completes the San Bruno Avenue-Junipero Serra interchange," the company spokesman said.

Pacific Telephone said the state requested the company to remove its underground cable and put it above ground until the construction work is completed, probably in mid-1969. Then the aerial cables will again be placed underground.

The three to four block stretch of aerial poles and wires is unsightly, the spokesman admitted in agreeing with several complaints from nearby residents. "But until the highway construction is completed there is nothing we can do."

Conversion of the cable from underground to aerial was completed about mid-May. The interchange work is expected to take about a year.

FIRE of undetermined origin destroyed the Yosemite Avenue home of the Jess Lobaugh family in Pacifica Sunday. Firemen spent more than five hours fighting the blaze, which began in a family room behind the garage of the two-story residence. The house was valued at an estimated $29,000.

Blaze Destroys Home in Pacifica

A two-story residence in Pacifica was totally destroyed by a fire which started about 1:45 p.m. Sunday while occupants were away, authorities reported.

Firemen said the home of the Jess Lobaugh family, 1047 Yosemite Avenue, caught fire about an hour after the family departed for a Sunday outing.

The fire apparently started in a family room behind the garage of the two-story residence, and the cause has not been determined, firemen said.

Three trucks and 24 Pacifica firemen and volunteers fought the fire more than an hour before extinguishing the flames, and a "clean-up" crew spent about five hours on the scene.

The house was valued at an estimated $29,000.

A rash of grass fires in Pacifica over the weekend were attributed to firecrackers by fire department personnel today.

Firemen said at least three of four fires brought to their attention Saturday and Sunday resulted from careless use of fireworks.

All the fires were small, and no damage resulted, authorities said.

RIFLE STOLEN

Gunman Gets Chess Show At San Bruno

Two bandits took custom-made jewelry valued at $3,400 from the Anwarul Islam Kahn home in San Bruno at gunpoint Friday, police reported over the weekend.

Kahn, who had just moved into 180 Sonoma Court, told San Bruno police two men, one of them masked and armed with a blue-steel revolver, knocked on his back door at 5:10 p.m.

When the duo knocked, Kahn said he thought they might be repairmen. One man had a hand to his face, clutching a handkerchief as though he had been coughing and Kahn let them into his kitchen.

But, as the two men—both described as in their thirties, six-foot tall with black hair—entered, Kahn realized one of the men had the handkerchief tied around his face.

The masked man pulled out a revolver and asked Kahn if he had any money in the house.

Kahn said he had none.

The masked suspect asked, "Do you want your face smashed in?" and led a room-by-room search of the house.

Drawers and closets were checked.

In the master bedroom, custom jewelry that Kahn's wife, who was not at home, had brought from Pakistan was uncovered in a dresser drawer.

The suspects took the jewelry, which included a gold bracelet with ruby stones and two necklaces, ring and earrings sets.

The two men then left through the back door, jumped a back fence, and disappeared.

Chess Show At San Bruno

George Koltanowski, international chess master, will again direct the San Bruno Chess Festival on July 4 in City Park.

Koltanowski ran last year's first chess tournament effort sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. An unanticipated throng of 250 entrants crowded Becker Field for a full day of chess activity.

The Chamber is again sponsoring the Chess Festival and this year looks for nearly 300 registered players from all over the state. According to Chamber Manager Larry Mobley, registrations have been received from as far away as Los Angeles and Reno, Nev., and an inquiry about the event from Louisville, Neb.

The San Bruno Chess Festival will begin at 10 a.m. in the Becker Field area of City Park. All persons interested in entering the chess competition, from beginner to champion, women and children, can pick up entry blanks from the Chamber of Commerce office. The entry fee is $3 and trophies and

Fire Stops Traffic On The Bayshore

Traffic on Bayshore Freeway was halted for awhile Saturday afternoon by smoke pouring from a huge grass fire on San Bruno Mountain.

An estimated 100 acres of dry grassland on the eastern slope of the mountain between South San Francisco and Brisbane was burned over.

Three trucks and a bulldozer were at the scene from 1 to 6 p.m. bringing the fire, the cause of which was not determined, under control.

In charge of the fire fighting operation was Assistant Ranger John Lake of the Division of Forestry, who was at Candlestick Park when he saw the smoke and dutifully left the game.

A smaller fire, covering an acre, broke out off of Hillsdale Boulevard on the South San Francisco side of the mountain at 3:35 p.m. and was doused by the foresters.

Sunday to Mark Start of New Westside Church School Classes

Sunday will mark the beginning of the new Sunday School year at Westside Baptist Church of Pacifica. Pastor A. David Donnelly reminded area residents.

The church offers 13 age-graded and Bible-centered classes at 9:45 a.m. on Sundays. The pastor and the Sunday school superintendent, Jim McDaniels invited "any and all newcomers" to attend the classes.

During this Sunday's hour, Pastor Donnelly will launch a new class for all who might be interested in learning what the Bible teaches concerning the Church: baptism; salvation. Also a brief history of the Baptist General Conference and the local church will be given.

"Non-Violent Warfare" is to be the sermon topic for the 11 a.m. worship hour. Special music for this service will be provided by Bill DeLung, tenor soloist.

At this service the Ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be administered.

During the adult worship service, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson, will conduct a primary church service for boys and girls four through seven years of age. Also during this service, a nursery is conducted for babies and toddlers.

Sunday at 6:15 p.m., three Conference Youth Fellowship groups meet.

At the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour, the Brass Ensemble will present the special music. Bill DeLung will lead the congregation in singing of Gospel choruses and songs, and Pastor Donnelly, who returned this past week from the 89th Annual Conference of the Baptist General Conference in Davenport, Iowa, will report on the conference.

Saturday, at 8 a.m., the Men's Prayer Fellowship is to meet at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno.

Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., Prayer and Bible Study Hour will be held at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno.

Pastor Donnelly will lead in

Dry Run On Guns At San Bruno

A group of San Bruno gun fanatics showed up en masse at last week's meeting of the San Bruno council, apparently in the belief that the city was contemplating enactment of a gun control ordinance.

However, Mayor George Ingham informed the group no such legislation is presently being considered, and noted it was not listed on the agenda.

The matter was then dropped from discussion. City Clerk Carl Huthberg said his office received several letters from persons opposed to changes in the city gun law last week, though no changes have been proposed.

affiliated with the Baptist General Conference, and the site for the new church sanctuary is located just south of the San Andreas School.

Suit Objects To Business In Basement

A Pacifica couple was sued Friday for operating an electronics parts manufacturing business in their garage and basement.

The suit was filed by the Fairmont Subdivision Improvement Association and contends that the defendants, John and Dolores Mosman of 295 Edgewood Drive, are violating the terms of the restrictive covenant applying to all homes in the subdivision.

The suit alleges that the business enterprise causes "noise and vibrations which are heard and felt by residents throughout the neighborhood" and causes "lights to dim, television images to be distorted and static in radio receivers." It is further alleged that the interference with the power causes line voltages to drop and damages electrical appliances such as refrigerators, TV sets and electric lights.

The association asks for an injunction against the business operation, $3,000 in general damages and $3,000 in exemplary damages, and $1,000 for attorney fees.

An affidavit accompanying the suit and signed by a next-door neighbor, Mrs. Virginia Simmons, 286 Sunshine Drive, lists a log of incidents extending between February 6 and June 16. Listed are incidents occurring on 25 separate dates of such things as lights blinking, loud pounding noises and TV reception being disturbed.

Coast Joins Fight to Save Allocations

Pacifica councilmen have adopted a resolution opposing any change in the "Mayo-Breed Formula" for distribution of state highway funds.

The resolution, adopted at Wednesday's regular council meeting, states that the "relative needs of Northern and Southern California" makes the present 55 per cent to 45 per cent division in highway funds reasonable and necessary for uniform development of freeways and road systems throughout the state.

A bill now pending before the Senate would redistribute the highway allocations on a basis of 60 per cent for Southern California and 40 per cent for Northern California.

In opposing the 5 per cent reduction in funds for the northern section of the state, the Pacifica resolution maintains that there is "a greater proportionate level of deficiencies in the Northern California system of highways and freeways" than in the Southern California system.

Copies of the resolution were forwarded to the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, the County Fair and Convention Association, and each city within the county.

These groups were urged to petition legislators to oppose the proposed redistribution.

Twins Will Carry Dream Girl's Sceptre

A pair of Pacifica eight-year-old twin boys will be pages for the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta's formal coronation of the Fiesta Dream Girl July 29.

They are Mitchell and Steven Reitman, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Reitman, 273 Sunshine Drive, who will carry the pillow and sceptre for the Dream Girl during the coronation ceremony.

Fair Special Events Director Mrs. Emily McAdams stated that the boys, who attended Fairmont Elementary School in Pacifica, were recruited through the Coastside Mothers of Twins Club. This organization is made up of women who are mothers of twins or other multiple births and its purpose is to conduct or participate in research projects and provide educational benefits for children.

County May Discard Green Valley Project

Green Valley may not become a garbage dump after all.

County Manager E. R. Stallings said Thursday he is "hopeful" that it will not be necessary for the county to acquire the picturesque valley which sweeps up from the coast just south of Devil's Slide.

Despite a long and sometimes bitter campaign by conservationists, the County Board of Supervisors last year ordered the purchase of Green Valley to accommodate the country's dumpsite needs through the year 2000. Experts had advised that Green Valley, along with other sites, was essential to the county's needs.

Yesterday, however, Stallings said it might be possible, through the use of transfer stations, that the county's other major dumps at Ox Mountain near Half Moon Bay and on the bay shore in Menlo Park would be sufficient.

A $670,000 appropriation for land acquisition in Green Valley was taken out of the budget for 1968-69. Stallings said the proposed expenditure was postponed until 1969-70 because it would not be possible to get matching federal funds for the project until then at least.

Original plans for Green Valley call for a land-fill dump operation that will be converted into a park when the dumping operation is completed. For this purpose the county applied for federal open space funds. The application was withdrawn, however, when the federal government notified the county that it would have to choose between a grant for Green Valley or a grant for the Pescadero Creek Park project. The Board of Supervisors chose Pescadero.

The Green Valley question came up after S. A. Armogida, manager of county waste disposal services, had told the board that "more closely coordinated efforts by the cities and the county and private enterprise on a local regional basis" is needed. He cited the situation in South San Francisco where the city dump potential is about exhausted as one needing prompt action.

Show in Pacifica

The Hegedus Family Art Show will be at Periwinkle Art Gallery in Pacifica through July 14. Special activities are scheduled for Saturday including an art auction from 2 to 3 p.m. Various Hegedus paintings will be offered in a silent auction while others will go on the block at "bargain" prices.

ORIGIN OF PIN-MONEY
DETROIT (UPI)—Pin-money was originally used to buy pins. Pins were extremely expensive in 16th century England and could only be sold on January 1 and 2, when ladies supplied with "pin-money" flocked to the shops, according to "5,000 Facts and Fancies," published by Gale Research Co., Detroit.

An appeal of a Pacifica Planning Commission decision granting a use permit for construction of a convalescent hospital was denied by City Council Wednesday night.

The appeal had been made by Lou Sacha, a member of the planning commission. Sacha said his appeal was based on the matter of setting precedents in that there is no municipal ordinance dealing with combination convalescent medical hospitals.

The proposed two-story building would be used primarily for older convalescents and would include physical therapy, x-ray and other limited medical facilities for treatment of in-patients. It would also be available for out-patient use in conjunction with the medical group next door, it was explained.

In other business, the council: —Approved a resolution ordering abatement of weeds, rubbish, refuse and dirt upon private property.

—Accepted the resignation of Dorothy Edmister of the Personnel Commission, effective July 1.

—Decided to work on the budget July 3.

Pacificans Joins In Air Exchange

The National Headquarters of the Civil Air Patrol notified the Pacifica Cadet Squadron that their cadet commander, Rex Starr, has been designated as an "Aero-Ambassador" to represent California and the United States in their annual "International Air Cadet Exchange," and spend three weeks in Great Britain in July and August.

Cadet Captain Starr will be one of 150 young men and women from throughout the United States and Puerto Rico who are annually chosen to go to more than 20 foreign countries around the world in exchange for Aero-cadets from those nations. This annual exchange is co-sponsored by the C.A.P. and the United States Air Force.

Flying via MAC (Military Air Lift Command), Starr will first fly to Washington D.C. where he will spend two or three days being briefed, processed and touring the Nations Capitol.

He will then fly to the Rhein Main Air Base in Frankfurt West Germany, where he will meet the exchange cadets from Luxembourg, Norway, Sweden, Netherlands, Denmark, Belgium, West Germany, France, Switzerland, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Israel, Spain, Portugal and Austria as well as the British Isles.

After a formal dinner and entertainment, the American cadets will depart for all of those countries, and Starr will go with 24 other American boys to London. The English country-side, and other historic points of interest are all on the agenda.

After about three weeks in the countries assigned, the CAP cadets are re-assembled in Germany and flown back to Washington D.C. where, along with the foreign cadets, they will be the guests of honor at a Congressional dinner and ball. Then they will return home.

The CAP cadets and their exchange counterparts are selected for the I.A.C.E. on the basis of character, academic achievement, demonstrated leadership ability and good citizenship.

Starr's first step in this half-way-around the world tour started in the Presidio of San Francisco last January where he appeared before a military selection board in competition with cadets from all over Northern California.

CAPT. REX C. STARR

A similar board was being held in southern California.

From all of the applicants, only five youths and one girl were selected from the state of California. Starr was one of two Northern California cadets to be chosen.

Starr carried letters and recommendations from the Terra Nova High School, from which he has just been graduated. The Pacifica City Council, The Park, Beach and Recreation Commission and Pacificans of note.

Considered a leadership achievement were his record as the Pacifica Squadrons' cadet commander for more than a year, and his being appointed as Cadet Commander for a recent Northern California Air Search and ground rescue training exercise held in Hollister.

He is perhaps best known locally for his record-breaking ways in his swimming activities with the Sea Lions, the Terra Nova Varsity swim team, and recently in the NPL finals. He has participated in Pacifica's "Youth in Government Day," and is currently serving on the Pacifica Highway Commission as a student advisor.

Starr will carry with him souvenirs of Pacifica to give to his European hosts, as well as carrying a batch of photos to show what life in Scenic Pacifica is like for a teen-age boy. Starr's only question now is "how do you say 'Surfing' in German?"

Pacificans Win Gamble With Census

The City of Pacifica has won its "census gamble" and the bet returned odds of better than four-to-one for the first year.

The State Department of Finance confirmed this week that the city's present estimated population is 35,383, a gain of 1,583 over the estimated 1966 population of 33,800, and a gain of nearly 15,000 over the estimated population at the time of the last census in 1960.

This means the city will receive an additional $22,137 per year in gasoline tax and motor vehicle license.

Gasoline tax funds and revenue from motor vehicle licensing are returned to California cities on the basis of population, and Pacifica's new population figure is effective immediately, Grindrod said.

"We could conceivably receive additional revenues as early as this week," he said, "and the new figures will definitely be in effect with the beginning of the new fiscal year."

The Pacifica Council voted to contract for the new census, at an estimated cost of $7,500, over two months ago upon the recommendation of Community Development Director Robert C. Keyes.

At that time, Keyes told councilmen the move would be a "gamble, but a bet with very good odds."

Actual cost of the census, which required the efforts of approximately 30 full-time workers over a one-month period, was only $5,088, considerably less than the city's original estimate.

In addition to assuring new revenues from the state, the census also provided valuable information for the city's planning department, according to Keyes.

"Such information as the ages, professions, income and modes of transportation of residents was gathered during the census, and will be utilized for years in planning the city's development," he said.

Tire Fire On Beach Outlawed

An ordinance prohibiting the burning of tires on county beaches was approved last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Jean Fassler had asked for the law, stating that the practice of burning tires for heat had become a nuisance on the Coastside.

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson said present law forbids fires on beaches except for cooking and "recreational" purposes. The new provision, he said, will specifically designate tires as nonrecreational.

It was pointed out that the restriction will apply only on beaches in the jurisdiction of the Board of Supervisors. Sorenson said, however, that the state is considering a similar prohibition for its beaches. Daly City, Pacifica and Half Moon Bay will be asked to do the same.

Cal Poly Aids 3 Mateans

Twenty engineering students at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo, will be aided by $500 scholarships each during the 1968-69 college year provided by a memorial fund honoring the late Walter T. Wells, long time friend of Cal Poly.

Recipients of the scholarship, all with grade averages of B or better, from San Mateo County, are:

Kelly John Condron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Condron of Milbrae, a sophomore metallurgical engineering major;

Allan S. Gottlieb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan D. Gottlieb of Pacifica, a sophomore electronics major; and Randall E. Scott, an entering electronics major from San Mateo.

$7,000 Fire In Daly City Apartments

The hot ash of a cigarette that dropped onto a bed was blamed for a fire that last Wednesday caused an estimated $7,000 damage to two apartment bedrooms and their contents in a Daly City apartment.

Firemen responded to the alarm at 126 Brynes at 3:14 a.m.

They found the rear portion of the Jay Port family's apartment engulfed, the flames licking out bedroom windows, touching the roof.

Since the iron gate at the front entrance of the apartment was locked, firemen were required to enter through a rear garage and up a fire escape with their hoses.

A fire department spokesman said Port earlier had discovered a fire in his mattress. He extinguished the fire — he thought — after it had burned a hole in the mattress.

Because of the strong smoke odor in the bedroom, he and his wife went into the front room to sleep.

Port, apparently still smelling smoke, later decided to investigate. Opening the bedroom door, he found the room completely engulfed by flame.

The two bedrooms were gutted and their contents destroyed and the hallway was damaged, firemen said.

Damage to the structure was estimated at $5,000; to contents, $2,000.

After discovering the blaze, Port got his family out of the second-floor apartment and alerted neighbors of the fire.

180 Sign Crossing Petition

A Daly City housewife pleaded with the City Council last week to push for immediate construction of a pedestrian overpass at the intersection of Westmoor Avenue and Skyline Boulevard — scene of a recent traffic fatality.

Mrs. Jean Louise Tissot, of 8 Eaton Avenue, presented her plea, backed by a petition containing some 180 signatures, to Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett.

According to the city, the State Highway Department previously discussed plans for a grade separation and related improvements at the intersection, but shelved the project for five to ten years.

Mrs. Tissot informed the council that residents of the area could not wait for five or ten years for the crossing and said she did not think the request for immediate consideration of the overcrossing was an unreasonable one.

Mayor Lycett instructed City Manager Edward Frank to contact state officials in the hope of speeding up the grade separation project.

Mayor Lycett noted the State Highway Department was presently building a pedestrian overcross at Clay Avenue and Junipero Serra Boulevard, an intersection that he considered less traveled ("and far less dangerous") than the Skyline location.

Grant Award For Teacher

Mrs. Florence Verducci Armstrong, class salutatorian in Daly City, and now teacher of English, Latin, and German at George Washington High School in San Francisco, has received a Ford Foundation "Special Career Fellowship" in the humanities, a five-year grant in the amount of approximately $14,000.

Mrs. Armstrong plans to work for her Ph. D. degree in comparative literature with the main emphasis on Latin, Sanskrit, and Greek epic poetry.

Mrs. Armstrong is a second generation San Francisco teacher, the daughter of the late Joe Verducci, who taught and coached at George Washington and Polytechnic High Schools and St. Mary's and San Francisco State Colleges. She is the mother of a 9-year-old son, David.

Mrs. Armstrong is a 1957 graduate of Jefferson Union High School in Daly City. She was salutatorian of her class and received a California Alumni scholarship, a German award and Honors at Entrance to the University of California.

Mrs. Armstrong graduated from University of California at Berkeley summa cum laude in 1962 with a B.A. degree and is a Phi Beta Kappa. She entered the Graduate Internship Program in Teacher Education at U.C. in 1963, and has taught at Washington High School since 1963.

Mrs. Powell On Rec Panel

The Daly City Council has named Mrs. Jane Powell to the Daly City Recreation Commission to fill the post vacated by the death of Mrs. Anne Eason.

Maude Hanselman was also appointed to a four-year term on the city's Library Commission.

LOUANNE HEATH

(Family Life Columnist)

MARIA MONTENEGRO, whose byline was once familiar to Post readers, is spending the summer weeks working and preparing for her entry into Stanford University in the fall.

One of Terra Nova's outstanding 1968 graduates, Maria hopes for a career in communications, either in a reportorial position or a related field.

And though the teachers, typewriters and editorial room will be different at Stanford, her studies will be the continuation of familiar subjects.

Maria is one of the fortunate persons who seems to know from the first days of high school in which direction her future awaits.

She first enrolled in journalism in her freshmen year and continued that study for the next three years, working on Tiger Tales, the Terra Nova publication which began as a newspaper and evolved into a quarterly news magazine.

Beginning as a reporter on the Tiger Tales she became news editor in her junior year and in her senior year she occupied the desk of the editor-in-chief. Not feeling overburdened by her editorial chores she managed to eke out time to write a regular Terra Nova column for the Post and to submit items to all the local papers in addition to doing news releases for the many of the school's departments.

She was the commissioner of publicity for the Terra Nova Executive Board in her junior year and commissioner of clubs in her senior year.

THOUGH JOURNALISM is her chief interest and Lou Paciotti (another Post columnist) her department advisor and journalism instructor is her favorite teacher, she also harbors a serious interest in drama and feels it might some day be her avocation.

She has appeared with the Pacifica Players and this past Christmas she was a member of the drama department's minstrel group which entertained at children's hospitals and convalescent homes. In all her activities it is her relationship with people that she relishes.

"I enjoy reading, but I also enjoy going out (for any excuse) and dancing. I enjoy people always. I love people watching. Specifically, I like to write and I'm interested in drama as a hobby," Maria commented.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reith of Pacifica, Maria is one of a family of four children. Her sister Margaret is 16, Raquel is 14 and Philip is nine years old. She came to the

Generation Gap Discourse

United States 10 years ago from Manila, the Philippines, and for the past six years the family has lived in Pacifica.

She attended Ortega elementary school before entering Terra Nova and during her last semester at the high school she attended San Francisco State on the early entrance program which permitted her to accrue 6 college units in journalism during morning sessions while she attended high school during the afternoon hours.

FOR HER OUTSTANDING scholarship, Maria has received two four-year scholarships, the California State Scholarship and the Stanford Scholarship, as well as the Pacifica Tribune scholarship, a life member in the California Scholarship Federation and the Gold Cord denoting the fact that she graduated with honors. She was a finalist in the Lion's Club Speech Contest, an Elks Club Leadership contest winner and the Student of the Month for the Pacifica Rotary.

She served as president of the Terra Nova American Field Service for three years and still found time to enter many speech tournaments and to take part in the International Relations Club which conducted the Model United Nations at the University of California at Berkeley.

Because she is a very literate and communicative person Maria sees value in the type of discourse that is generated by the "generation gap."

"There really is no way to resolve the generation gap. But I'm not so sure it's such a bad thing. In a sense it creates a type of balance between the security consciousness of the older generation and the idealistic change-seeking of the younger generation," Maria observed.

"Generation gap is simply a handy term used to describe something that is universal. Just because, all of a sudden there is a term for something, doesn't mean it hasn't existed all along. It is perhaps more apparent because of the great deal of controversy over it today, and because of the large number of members of the "younger generation."

"GENERATIONS have always had problems communicating because there are bound to be changes in attitudes and values between generations. It's hard to agree on something when the discussion is based on two different value systems.

"No one wins an argument if both persons come away without having changed their minds on anything. And each generation is stubborn — the older so sure of what experience has taught them, the younger so sure of being able to improve on the "olders'" mistakes," Maria said.

"I think that anti-social is a poor term to use in describing students. Is it anti-social for young people to search for their own meaning to life?

Students in these times are more and more aware of what's happening around them, and they try to seek solutions to the problems of the world. Sometimes these solutions create more problems. But the fact remains that they are trying to do something. Is it better not to cause problems and do nothing, or to risk making more problems while trying to solve others?

"They make mistakes, that is a human characteristic. But they try to live up to their convictions, that is also supposed to be human.

"Right now, when they are young, with no financial and family responsibilities, they feel responsible to themselves and to the world," Maria concluded.

Barbecue Favorites

Good Morning, good cooks.

Tomorrow is the Fourth of July and what are you and yours going to do to celebrate this glorious occasion? Going for a picnic in the park, a swim at the beach or a hike in the woods?

Or would you rather just stay at home and have a barbecue in the backyard? I hope you go for the barbecue, since I have a tremendous hamburger recipe for you.

HAMBURGERS A LA

- 1-3 cup of olive oil
- 1-3 cup catsup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1-3 cup of water
- 1/2 jigger liquid smoke
- 1 teaspoon of sugar
- 1 teaspoon flour
- juice of one-half lemon
- 1 teaspoon of salt
- 1/2 teaspoon of pepper
- 1 clove of garlic, minced extra fine
- 2 1/2 lbs of ground meat.

In a large bowl combine the one-third cup each olive oil and catsup, one tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, one-third cup of water, one-half jigger liquid smoke, one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon flour, juice of one-half lemon, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and the finely minced clove of garlic.

Mix well and add the 2 1/2 lbs. of ground meat. Let stand in the refrigerator 24 hours to season. Make into patties and cook. Cover with sauce.

SAUCE

- 1/4 cup A-1 sauce
- 1/4 cup of vinegar
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1 large onion grated
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon celery seed
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine the 1/4 cup each A-1 sauce, vinegar, catsup, one grated onion, 1/4 cup of brown sugar, 1/4 teaspoon celery seed, three-fourths teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Bring to a boil and simmer for 15 minutes.

For dessert, this yummy cake should please everyone.

OATMEAL CAKE

- 1 cup of quick oats
- 1 1/4 cups of boiling water
- 1 cup of brown sugar
- 1 cup of white sugar
- 1/2 cup of shortening
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon soda

Pour the 1 1/4 cups of boiling water over the 1 cup of oats. Stir and allow to cool. Cream the 1 cup each brown sugar and white sugar and half cup of shortening. Add the 2 eggs and cream well. Sift together the 1 1/4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 1 teaspoon soda. Add to the creamed mixture, along with the cooled oatmeal and blend well, pour into 9 x 13 inch pan which has been greased and lightly floured, bake in 350-degree oven, 35 to 40 minutes. In the meantime, prepare this frosting.

FROSTING

- 1 1/2 cups brown sugar
 - 1 cube margarine
 - 1/2 cup evaporated milk
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 - 1 cup coconut
- In a medium sauce pan combine the 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 1 cube of margarine, and 1/2 cup of evaporated milk. Cook together two minutes. Add the one-half cup of nuts and 1 cup of coconut. Spread over hot cake and place under broiler until frosting is slightly brown. Keep an eye on this; it browns mighty fast.

BILLY GOATS

If you find serving cookies for dessert pleases you and your darlings, try these.

- 1 cup of butter
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 tablespoons of sour milk
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon of soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1 cup of raisins
- 1 1/2 cup of chopped walnuts

Cream the one cup of butter and the 1 1/2 cups of sugar well, add the 3 egg yolks and 1 teaspoon of vanilla and beat at medium speed 2 to 3 minutes, until light and fluffy. Sift together the 2 1/2 cups flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon of cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon cloves. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture with two tablespoons sour milk. Blend well by hand. Add the 1 1/2 cups chopped walnuts and the 1 cup of raisins, and blend. (The dough is stiff so use your little hands on this.)

Drop by teaspoon on greased cookie sheets, one inch apart. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 minutes. Makes 6 dozen.

Pirates' Treasure Club Memberships Are Offered

Join the Pirates' Treasure Club. With this invitation the Daly City Public Library and the Friends of the Library organization inaugurate the 1968 summer reading program.

"All Daly City, Colma, and Broadmoor children are invited to participate," said Samuel Chandler, city librarian.

To join, a child selects a book, takes it home and reads it. Then he returns to the library and makes an oral report to the Pirates' Assistant. This entitles him to sign the Pirates' Treasure Log and select a treasure from the secret chest.

"The treasures," Chandler said, "are trinkets that any self-respecting pirate would choose for a fun-loving intelligent child."

The rules of the club require that oral reports be made between 10 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. A child will be limited to one report a week.

Children are invited to join the club at all outlets of the Daly City Public Library.

Happiness Is Summer Funtime...

July Fourth and the weekend that follows historically kick off the sun season for summer fun-timers.

And for several weeks ahead, much of the populace — those with vacations to spend—will scatter to distant points.

Others will take weekend advantage of the facilities to be found in various area parks.

Their "play" will be as groups and as individuals, as families and as companies. Whatever, they'll be certain to partake of that welcome fun-in-the-sun bit ... whether it's sunbathing, shade-soaking, lunch munching or the type of group activity portrayed in these Times photos by Howard Frank-house.

They were taken on a recent summery day at the San Bruno City Park, which has many facilities and lots of room, and where a good-sized company outing was in progress.

The photo-action speaks for itself — the fun, "hazards" and frustrations of an old-fashioned sack race.

They're Off and Running...But (Whoops!) It

Hitchhiker Injured On El Camino

A young hitchhiker was injured on El Camino Real Sunday afternoon when he stepped from a truck into the path of an automobile, police reported.

William E. Paddock, 18, of 833 Newman Drive, South San Francisco, was hospitalized with "severe injuries" after he stepped in front of a car driven by Dorothy Bowers, 703 1/2 Linden Avenue, about 150 feet south of Arroyo Drive.

Police said the accident occurred about 5 p.m. when Paddock stepped from a truck and into the "fast" southbound lane of El Camino Real.

Fire Damages Bruno Home

A San Bruno residence was damaged Sunday morning by a fire which apparently started from faulty wiring in the attic, authorities reported.

Firemen said the roof of a house occupied by the Delmar Foster family, 424 Taylor Avenue, was damaged by a fire which began about 9:15 a.m.

Damage to the house, owned by Paul Callan of Millbrae, was estimated at $300.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT CARPET

Carpeting is one of the most important purchases you'll ever make for your home. It sets the scene for your entire decorating scheme. So when you shop for carpeting, you'll want to know as much about it as possible.

Here are some rules to help you make your carpeting shopping easier and your selections right for your home, your needs and your budget.

Medium shades are the most practical. Very dark and very light colors show the most soil. If you must have a light color, be prepared to clean it often or put it in a light traffic area.

Multicolor carpets, such as tweeds, florals, and stripes are most serviceable because they disguise soiling and footprints, and wear better than solid-color carpets. Twist carpets in which the yarn has been given a permanent wave, are good for heavy traffic areas.

Decorate around your carpet if possible; but if you already have your draperies and upholstered furniture, take swatches of them with you when you shop for carpeting.

Choose a carpet color you can live with comfortably. You should like the color enough so that it wears as well on your eyes as it does on your feet.

Memorial Fund Started

A memorial fund aiding the South San Francisco Boys' Club has been established in the name of Cpl. Richard A. Carlson, who was killed in action in Vietnam, May 24.

A member of the Boys' Club in the early 1960s, his parents announced this week that the fund has been started.

A Bronze Star winner for gallantry in action, Cpl. Carlson was a graduate of Southwood Junior High in 1962. He attended South San Francisco High School prior to joining the Army.

Cpl. Carlson, 20, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carlson, 413 North Fairway Drive. Parents have asked that any contribution go to the South San Francisco Boys' Club.

Athletics Need a Slugger

The incumbent, Bert Campaneris, is a fine offensive player, but only an adequate defensive one, at best. We don't advocate moving Campaneris out of the lineup, but into left field. This would not only plug up the infield defensively (and perhaps offensively, if Kubiak can keep hitting the way he has been), but Congratulations to Janis Riney on her acceptance into a very exclusive bowling club for ladies — Les Dames de 700. Jan is a member of the 1989-90 season 700+ series in the Ladies Invitational League. She finished in this series as a top 10 player.

Ladies in the Monday Blue Chip continue to shine. The top 10 players are: winners were Norma Hatchell 100 stamps; Don Mize 1200; Elly Wells 820; Ethel Ait 780; Linda Loefer 760; Linda Loefer 760; Loretta 710 and Lois Swanson 200.

There were 100 players in the 700+ series, there were new and repeat winners. Leading winners were: Samantha Trice 1320 stamps; Linda Loefer 1200 stamps; Don Mize 640; Lois and Louise Bird 140; Ruth Keefe set the high mark in the 700+ series with 100 stamps and a 54 and six.

Thanks to our Pro Les Barrett, she averaged 216 for 24 games in the Fresno ProPA Tournament this past week. She was the only player to score 200, but just missed out by a scant 45 pins. The trip was worthwhile though as Les was able to see her friends and family ahead of such bowlers as Dick Weber, who is in the 700+ series. Les has also been in the money four out of five Fresno Tournaments.

For our junior director, has announced that there are still a few openings in the following league: Summer League for girls 10-12 years, Summer Pennant League for girls 13-15 years and girls 16 years and under. It is then, we hope, that St. Louis pitching weaknesses will begin seeping through. They really don't have that depth in starters and their relievers, for the most part, haven't been outstanding. Charros to Ride At Cow Palace

Mexico's champion charros — the world's greatest horsemen — will be seen in action during the National Mexican Horse Show and Rodeo July 19 through 21 at the Cow Palace in Daly City.

Headed by Mexican film idol Tony Aguilar and his screen actress wife, Flor Silvestre, the troupe will present such rodeo acts as bull riding, bronco riding, the "pass of death" and all other traditional rodeo events.

In addition there will be an exhibition featuring one of the world's greatest collections of educated equines, all from Aguilar's own 30,000-acre ranch in central Mexico.

Among the horses will be Lipizzans; Portuguese horses; the precise-gaited Paso horses from Peru; Morgan horses, so intelligent they seem almost human; performing Apaloozas from Spain and quarter horses from the United States.

In keeping with the Mexican flavor of the event, Aguilar has brought with him from Mexico his own mariachi band.

Performances are Friday, July 19, 8 p.m.; Saturday, July 20, 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 and 7 p.m.

Does Your Child Use Dope?

By GEORGE GOLDING

MOM IS IN the best position to catch teen-age marijuana users but, bless her loyal heart, she seldom does.

She is most likely to be the one who sees the green leaf residue in shirt pocket seams or purses, the wooden matches, cigarette papers, plastic bags, "roll your own" machines and small-bowled tobacco pipes that are necessities of the marijuana smoker. She seldom recognizes them as signposts of narcotics use.

The main reason, of course, is that Mom, although she may remember the Great Depression, World War II, and the startling "New Look" fashions which dropped skirts to the ankle in 1947, probably never saw marijuana.

It's not hard to spot.

"Pot" in a smokeable condition looks like the leftovers from a bale of alfalfa hay. It smells very much like damp alfalfa.

It is green, dark green.

Because the plant has narrow leaves and long stalks, the commonly sold quality of marijuana is about two-thirds stalks and stems, and about one-third leafy matter. There are also some seeds.

They are round seeds, slightly bigger than tomato seeds and a touch darker. Globular in shape.

Because there is so little leaf on a marijuana plant (compared to a tobacco plant, which is all leaf), the "stuff" is not neatly shredded like tobacco. It has been crushed, and the leafy remains show it. They are mostly crumbled into dust.

When burned, it smells sweetish, like a fire in a clover field or a blaze among lawn clippings. It is hay sweet, not incense sweet.

Aside from the "tea" itself, there are other giveaways that Mom is in the best position to notice.

For one thing, almost no one smokes marijuana without already smoking tobacco. If a kid doesn't smoke at all, he or she won't be "blowing grass."

If he (or she) does smoke, there will be the odor of tobacco on clothing. Mom, smoking herself, may not notice the tobacco odor, but the odor of marijuana smoke is not the same. It is a bit stronger, more grassy. It may be mixed with tobacco smoke, because tobacco smoking is a frequent "cover."

Even if there is no noticeable smoky smell, Mom can detect it when she washes the clothes, or even gathers them for the laundry. If her youngster smokes, there'll be small bits of golden leaf tobacco in the bottoms of his or her pockets. Maybe once in a while a stray cigarette, or folder of paper matches will be clues.

But, if the kid uses marijuana, the leafy matter will be green, not golden brown. It is dark green, or even brownish green, but not tobacco brown.

The matches she finds may be wooden. Few people use wooden matches, but marijuana smokers sometimes do because the empty boxes are handy for storing raw "weed" or rolled "sticks."

Plastic Bags

If there are wooden matches around, it might be a good idea for Mom to keep an eye out for empty matchboxes. Or, in a more modern system of storage, plastic sandwich bags can be stashed in a drawer, stuffed under the bed, or even left in plain sight, innocently.

According to informants on Haight Street in San Francisco, and according to police, almost all small lots of marijuana nowadays are sold in plastic bags.

Even more certain, your marijuana smoker will use cigarette papers for "rolling his own." These are available at "hippie" shops on the Peninsula and in the Haight-Ashbury, or at tobacco stores and grocery stores everywhere.

Like the old-time cowboy, the "pothead" has to roll his own. Marijuana "sticks" don't come from government-taxed factories.

They may come from small "roll your own" machines, however, that are also available at hippie shops and tobacco stores everywhere. The machines are innocent enough; lots of people use them to roll cheaper cigarettes out of bulk tobacco.

"Sticks" Recognizable

A marijuana smoker doesn't really need machines and papers, wooden matches, or plastic bags, if he can buy his "grass" ready rolled by someone else.

The "sticks" will still be recognizable, though, with tapered ends common to hand-rolled cigarettes, and are usually rolled far thinner than normal tobacco cigarettes.

And because they are thinner, and burn faster, and cost more, and have to be smoked furtively, they are frequently smoked only half-way and then saved, in a matchbox, or in the bottom of a pack of cigarettes, or in a pillbox or purse.

When the half-smoked "roach" is used, they are pinched between the fingers carefully, and smoked down to the very nubbin.

This produces yellow-stained fingers.

To avoid the finger staining, and to allow smoking even more of the "stick" which may have cost as much as $1, without burning the fingers, the marijuana smoker may use a "crutch," or a "roach clip."

A crutch can also be spotted by Mom. It may be a roll of cardboard from a book of paper matches. Or an "alligator" clip picked up at the local hardware, electronics, or auto parts store.

It can be a "jefferson airplane," one of the brass and wire devices worn on some hippie necklaces. An "airplane" sometimes looks like a peace symbol on top of a dragonfly. Roach clips sometimes look like the needle threader Mom uses at her sewing machine, or like a butterfly.

If Mom accidentally finds any of these evidences, she has cause to be suspicious. There are also other warnings.

Furtive

A person doing something he knows is considered wrong is likely to be furtive. Psychiatrists, doctors, and policemen say that a sudden change in behavior, such as selection of a new group of comrades, a marked loss of interest in school, and especially "gym" classes, are first clues.

There may also be overheard conversations that are giveaways, references to "weed," "pot," "sticks," "joints," "Acapulco Gold," "Mary Jane," "Jane," "Mary Warner," "grass," "roach," "tea," or simply, "stuff."

There may be discussions of quantities: "sticks" or "joints" or "roaches" are individual cigarettes. They are given away, shared, or sold for any price from 25-cents up.

A "box" is the amount of loose marijuana that can be stuffed into a small matchbox, and goes for $3 to $5.

Descriptions

A "lid" is the amount that could be stuffed into a pocket-sized tobacco can, though it is usually sold in a plastic bag, and goes for $3 to $10 depending on supply, demand and quality.

It is occasionally possible to buy "double-lids," also in plastic bags, for twice the money.

These "sticks" and "boxes" and "lids" all come from a larger quantity, usually from a "key," a "kilo," or "brick" shipped in from Mexico.

A brick is what it is. Like a small bale of hay which has been packed damp and dried hard. A fibre brick about two inches thick, five inches wide, ten inches long. Bricks from Mexico normally come wrapped in cellophane, then in thick paper. Each weighs 2.2 pounds, and equals a metric system kilogram.

On "the street" in San Francisco, you can hear open conversations of sales of these "keys" for around $95.

If your kid is talking about buying or selling "keys," or quarter or half-keys, he or she is in deep.

Suit to be Dropped?

FLASHY FLASH — That suit filed by carwash owners Ross Schendel and Mario Caprini against another carwash on Hillside and Market in Daly City WILL BE DROPPED after two years. Attorney for the pair, Robert Hunter, was expected to ask for a dismissal of the complaint this week. No reason was given.

Caprini and Schendel maintained in their suit that the Hillside carwash (an automatic coin-operated system) was in violation of the city codes and built on a C-1 parcel, while their carwash on Sullivan Avenue required a use permit and was built on a C-2 lot.

This technicality was kicked around between city attorney Al Polonsky and attorney Bob Hunter's offices for many months and came to what some observers feel is a very undramatic ending with the dismissal. But like that they say: It all came out in the wash. (sic).

WHEN THE Reverend Hansel Stenbridge, of the Westlake Community Baptist Church, asked his congregation to chip in whatever they could afford in a move to employ a needy youth (for $30 per week) 14 persons jumped up and pledged $10 each. How's that for getting on the bandwagon? P.S. The lad is now working and earning enough to help his family.

AND LET'S HEAR IT for the five members of the Daly City council who are currently burning the midnight oil in a concerted effort to trim the city budget (and keep those taxes down). It's not an easy task folks! On this side of the table you have the "wegottahaves" and on the other is Hizzoner Bud Lycett and the Council sadly slashing away with their red pencils and commenting "that's a no no."

ODDS ARE UP that the Jefferson Elementary School District request to up the tax rate by 50 cents WON'T MAKE IT. But most school officials and trustees are optimistic and are selling the need for the hike — all except one trustee. This fellow talks with forked tongue. Among the other trustees he "talks it up" for the increase, but when a voter gets a little huffy about the request he turns the other cheek and agrees the rate should be held down.

SURE THEY GOT shiny new traffic signals at the corner of Westmoor and Skyline, but they didn't stop that car during a heavy fog the other a.m. A young widow was killed when the driver couldn't stop and rolled into the pedestrian crossing. If that isn't the best reason for a pedestrian overcrossing, we just don't know what is.

But the State Highway Department often frowns on $75,000 overcrossings. During a hearing on that overcrossing in South City last year one Highway Division notable said, "If we put them in everytime someone asks for one it'll make the road look like a tunnel." And that was at a site where THREE kids were killed.

What's 'Bait Advertising'?

QUESTION: You speak of bait advertising. What exactly is it?

ANSWER: Bait advertising is the advertising of certain articles or services at bargain prices which the advertiser has no intention of selling, but desires to sell a substitute at a higher price — probably an inferior substitute at an exorbitant price. Also the offer of credit terms not really available.

QUESTION: How does one go about complaining to the BBB about a firm?

ANSWER: Complaints about a business are not accepted by the BBB until the complainant has first attempted to obtain an adjustment from the firm involved. As a matter of policy, the BBB believes a company should have the opportunity of handling customer grievances first. If an individual is unable to obtain satisfaction on a grievance, then the Bureau brings the matter to the attention of management. It has been found that most firms are anxious to take care of legitimate complaints to retain the customer's good will.

QUESTION: What is the stand of the BBB concerning door-to-door sales?

ANSWER: The Bureau is not opposed to this type of selling. It only opposes the methods used by a few fast-buck artists which are harmful to good business. Door-to-door selling was one of our country's first means of distributing merchandise to the consumer and it is still practiced by many reliable firms. If you are approached with an offer that sounds too good to be true, and the salesman does not properly identify himself, his company or product, we suggest caution. Ask him to present his offer in writing so that you may check with the BBB.

Do not fall for the high pressure pitch that the offer is good only today or this week; there is a good chance that it will be available next month and perhaps all season.

Double check with reliable local merchants as to price, service and quality of the same merchandise before you make your decision.

Mary Martin Adored

As a week-old bride, I found "I Do! I Do!" to have special charms. But that same honeymoon glow may not have been as bright any other time because the musical version of "The Fourposter" has only two good things going for it, namely Mary Martin and Robert Preston.

Love is restored to the musical stage in this one and nothing can diminish the magic of Mary Martin's vivacity and ageless charm. Authors Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, who gave us "Fantasticks" haven't greatly enhanced the original play with memorable music or lyrics. "My Cup Runneth Over" comes as a surprise to most people who think Ed Ames wrote it (he only made the hit record) and while the songs suit the plot, they aren't anything to cherish after the curtain falls.

The plot covers the 50-year marriage of an adoring couple whose problems over that bumpy road of romance is as commonplace as mud. There's the nervous, expectant father, the annoyed father who can't write books amongst the clutter of children's toys, the cocky father who fancies himself attractive to younger women, the contrite father, the angry father, the jealous father when his daughter gets married and the understanding father when the old house is sold to strangers. Preston is all of these with all the sparkle and exuberance of his "Music Man."

PRODUCER DAVID MERRICK COULDN'T HAVE FOUND A BETTER PAIR than Martin and Preston to make this trite and cliched little fluff of a musical come alive and stay that way through such antics as husband having sympathetic labor pains, worried parents awaiting their teen-age children to come home late from dates, and a wife declaring she's leaving home when she feels her domestic job is done.

The gems of the evening are polished to a glittering facet by Mary Martin who fandangoes on top of her sturdy mahogany bed in an outlandishly flamboyant orange feather hat singing "Flaming Agnes" to the delight of her captive audience. And for all the hullabaloo over the big names in "Hello Dolly" or "Gypsy," none can match the magic of Mary Martin, sitting alone on the edge of the stage in pale yellow chiffon singing "What Is A Woman." Judy Garland used to do it with "Over the Rainbow" but in this case, it's the performer, not the song that makes the moment so special.

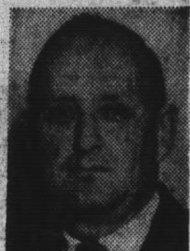

There are laughs to be had; gentle, kindly chuckles over the shyness of two newlyweds getting undressed in front of each other for the first time. They bubble again, in a more robust manner, when Preston toodles on his saxophone and Martin saws on her violin, in a duet about what they'll do when their children are married and have left home.

THE ORCHESTRA PLAYS BEHIND OLIVER SMITH's carved bedroom set, allowing the performers to come closer to the audience via sloping ramps. It also gives the women a better glimpse of Freddy Wit-top's adorable turn of the century collection of pegnoirs, and evening gowns.

"I Do! I Do!" is about love, happiness, needing each other, caring and sharing. When the couple applies their grey wigs and age lined faces in front of the audience, you'll likely find a lump forming in your throat. It's called sentiment and that's what the show is all about.

Words for the Fourth

TO MARK the Fourth of July, let us look at the words of a United States senator who was asked to speak about American involvement in the Pacific:

"Where the flag leads we follow. We follow the flag and independence is ours. We follow the flag and nationality is ours. We follow the flag and oceans are ruled. We follow the flag, and in Occident and Orient tyranny falls and barbarism is subdued."

We followed the flag at Trenton and Valley Forge, at Buena Vista and Chapultepec, at Gettysburg and Mission Ridge, at Santiago and Manila and everywhere and always it means larger liberty, nobler opportunity, and greater human happiness, for everywhere and always it means the blessings of the greater Republic."

THUS SPOKE Senator Albert J. Beveridge to groups that were clamoring for America to conclude a war in the Pacific Islands that had grown unpopular.

Said he, "The blood already spilled was poured out upon the altar of the worlds regeneration . . . Retreat on any pretext would be the master of history. It would be the betrayal of a trust as sacred as humanity. It would be a crime against Christian civilization, and would mark the beginning of the decadence of our race. And so, thank God, the Republic never retreats."

Sixty-nine years later Americans are still in the Pacific — The action has shifted from the Philippines, to the Solomon Islands, to the Coral Sea, to Japan, to Korea, to Formosa, to Vietnam.

The antagonist has changed from Colonial Spain, to the Japanese Empire to Communism. But Americans are still called to follow their flag to far off lands.

When will it end? When will the United States be through with what Senator Beveridge called its sacred trust?

The answer may be found in Franklin D. Roosevelt's First War Address

Before Congress, "Many people ask 'When will it end?' there is only one answer to that."

It will end just as soon as we make it end by our combined efforts, our combined strength, our combined determination to fight through the work until the end, the end of militarism . . . Most certainly we shall not settle for less."

Meanwhile, the Philippines have become a bullwork of democracy; Japanese militarism has been conquered; Australia and New Zealand have remained free; Communism has been stopped in South Korea, Indonesia, and contained in Vietnam — all with American help.

Such achievement caused Thomas Wolfe to write, "It is Europeans, for the most part, who have constructed these great ships, but without America they have no meaning. These ships are alive with the supreme ecstasy of the modern world, which is the voyage of America."

"There is no other experience that is remotely comparable to it, in its sense of joy, its exultancy, its drunken and magnificent hope which against reason and knowledge, soars into a heaven of fabulous conviction, which believes in the miracle and sees it invariably achieved."

These words from Thomas Wolfe precede an article by Eric Sevareid entitled "The American Dream" in the July 9th issue of Look Magazine.

It and the photo-essay that follows makes wonderful Fourth of July reading for Americans as they follow the flag.

"IT'S (AMERICA'S) coat of arms," Sevareid writes, "bore and bears only one word — Freedom — Not the freedom of a region or sect or point of view — Just freedom, the condition in which a man feels like a human being, like himself — It is the purpose, the definition and consequence of rebirth — It is The Dream."

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Post:

We hear a great deal, these days, of Communist-oriented people who have assassinated some of our leading men.

Let us assume that there is a Communist plot to kill off our most liberal and progressive leaders, doesn't that tell us something? I wish to point out here and now to the rightist that if the Communists are killing off the liberals and are not bothering the other side, it must be that the Communists, who are very clever, see the right wing as their political friends and are hoping to get them elected. As good historians the Communists know that in the past they have always taken power from a right wing type of government. Therefore I say to those sincere people in the right wing camp that if you do not want communism then don't fall into their trap. If the liberals are the enemies of the Communists then the liberals are your friends.

It is well to keep in mind that both the left and the right are sworn enemies of democracy. With such credentials can democracy be all bad?

SAMUEL H. KLINE,
South San Francisco.

Editor, The Post:

All Real Estate Salesmen in this area, sell homes stressing the fact that there's a hospital in this area, as a main selling point. They are referring of course, to Mary's Help Hospital.

Twice, both times for my children, I've had cause to use this hospital, and was sent elsewhere, because I couldn't get a local doctor that is affiliated with Mary's Help Hospital.

Of what earthly good is having a local hospital, if we can't use it because of too many political machinations? What is our American Medical Association doing, sleeping at the switch?

PAMELA ANNE JOSLIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Joslin, 1305 Rainbow Drive, San Mateo, is shown being fitted for her new United Air Lines dress by a representative of the Fashionaire Division of Hart Schaffner & Marx Co. in Chicago. This is one of four new dresses, two coats and matching accessories she and 4,500 United stewardesses began wearing this month. The entire ensemble was created by Jean Louis of Hollywood and is being made by the Fashionaire Division under a $3 million contract, the largest ever entered into by an airline.

NEW CHARTER—Brig. Gen. Frank E. Wilson, left, executive director of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, presents a charter for the establishment of a Northern California Chapter of the 77-year old organization to Assistant Surgeon General R. Leslie Smith of the U.S. Public Health Service during ceremonies in San Francisco. Dr. Smith, who resides at 1771 Valley View Avenue, Belmont, was elected president. Plans of the new chapter include a scientific symposium in San Francisco next spring under sponsorship of Lederle Laboratories. The Association of Military Surgeons fosters continuous improvement of all phases of federal medical services and the international exchange of ideas and uniformity in procedures of military medicine. Members include commissioned officers who specialize in medical pursuits of the armed forces, Veterans Administration and the U.S. Public Health Service.

Fourth Rodeo Returns After 6-Year Lapse

Rev. Martin Wins Grant

An event traditional to the Fourth of July, as kindred as fireworks or watermelon, rodeo returns to the Peninsula after an absence of six years, to fill the void created when the Redwood City Rodeo was forced to terminate.

Sponsored by the San Mateo County Horsemen's Association, the Fifteenth Annual Junior Rodeo will be held as a one day show of thrills and spills at the Mounted Patrol Grounds off King's Mountain Road in the town of Woodside.

Contestants nine through 18 years of age will compete in all the usual rodeo classes beginning at 1:30 p.m. with the crowd pleasing greased pig scramble, highlight of the day closing out the program.

Assuming proportions of a major rodeo, two special features have been added to the schedule this year. The L. C. Smith nationally famous six-horse draft team will be seen in the mid-afternoon, and a performer well-remembered from the past Redwood City rodeos, professional clown Benjie Bennefield, will appear once again to do his evasive acrobatics with bulls and bucking broncos.

Former R.C.A. cowboy, Harold Zweirlein, permanent show manager pointed out that this is his first Fourth of July show in the history of the Junior spectacle. "We have moved up to this new date as a community service on this Independence holiday."

Admission to the grandstand seating will be $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children. Food and refreshments will be available on the grounds.

A University of Santa Clara history professor has received a research grant which will enable him to complete work on a project he first began in 1957.

He is the Rev. Norman F. M. Martin, S. J., and his research involves the study of unemployment in colonial Mexico during the 16th and 18th centuries.

Father Martin's grant is from the National Foundation of Art and Humanities in Washington, D.C. He will be on leave from the university during the fall quarter of 1968 to complete his research in the Archives of Indies in Seville, Spain.

Father Martin attended San Mateo schools and was graduated from Gonzaga University.

Four County Medics Elected

Physicians from all over the United States and five other countries were elected to fellowship or associate membership in the American College of Physicians (ACP), an international organization representing specialists in internal medicine and related fields, recently.

Of the 392, four elected as associates were from San Mateo County. They were Dr. Sidney M. Marchasin and Dr. David Levenson of Redwood City and Dr. John A. Sarconi and Dr. Roger L. Trinkler of San Mateo.

SM Writers Form Club

A group of aspiring Peninsula writers is in the process of forming a novice writers' club under the auspices of the San Mateo Recreation Department.

The group will meet Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 at the Central Recreation Building in Central Park. Guests are welcome.

Membership is open to all writers whether they have been published or not and San Mateo residence is not a requirement. Further information may be had by calling the Central Recreation Center.

Private Tatami Rooms For Irifune Customers

Authentic Japanese cuisine and the genuine graciousness of the Orient awaits diners at Toshio Kiyohara's Irifune, on 17th Avenue in San Mateo.

From the gently-swaying lanterns in front of the restaurant to the ultra-private tatami rooms, Toshio has created a culinary temple fit for the most discriminating patrons.

To Toshio and his staff, the preparation and serving of a meal is a ceremony. All meals are served by charming, kimono-clad waitresses, who have only one purpose in mind, to please patrons.

The tatami rooms are quite popular, and if so desired, your meal is prepared in sight.

Small groups celebrating festive occasions, and desiring privacy are encouraged to use the Irifune's unique tatami rooms.

BAY MEADOWS
SAN MATEO 345-1661

First Night Racing in California is now under way and going at a "fast pace." With the sport of kings running smoothly through July 13, there's no doubt that the success of night quarter horse racing is a dream come true.

In the beginning, many problems were to be overcome, and much credit goes to Dr. William J. Ward for seeing it through, and bringing the best quarter horses the country had to offer to San Mateo.

New lights representing an investment of over a half million dollars, not to mention the heated stands, plush carpeting and all-new restaurant and cafeteria equipment add to the comfort and enjoyment of spending an evening at Bay Meadows.

Post time for the night quarter horse meet is 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Relax, enjoy dinner and watch the world's fastest horses in action.

For thoroughbred followers, Robert S. Gunderson will have the Tanforan at Bay Meadows meet under way September 6 through October 12. Name jockeys and the country's top thoroughbreds will be on the grounds for this much-looked-forward-to racing event.

Climaxing the race year will be Joseph Cohen's California Jockey Club meet, when again the best in thoroughbreds will compete from October 14 through December 23.

Lovable Joseph is the oldest race track executive officer in point of service in California, having been associated with the late William P. Kyne and William Hornblower when the track opened.

Following will be the harness meet sponsored by Dr. William J. Ward, which will be announced at a later date.

Is it any wonder that Bay Meadows of San Mateo is known as "a busy race track!"

San Francisco Site of Newest Addition to the Royal Inn Chain

Royal Inns of America, Inc., with headquarters in San Diego, has started construction on a nine-story, 100-room, high-rise hotel and Jolly King Restaurant in downtown San Francisco, at 665 Ellis Street.

More than 60 persons, including city officials, members of the press, and representatives of Royal Inns, attended the groundbreaking ceremonies.

Earl Gagosian, president, said the $1,800,000 high-rise hotel is scheduled for opening in October and represents the third high-rise to be built in the network. The first and second high-rise hotels are in Santa Monica, (eight stories, opening in June) and Portland, Oregon (seven stories under construction.) This is in addition to the twelve motor hotels now operating in three western states.

Starting construction concurrently with the hotel is an adjoining Jolly King Restaurant, the fourth location to start construction in Royal Inns new subsidiary restaurant chain since formation last February.

No Stickney's Meal Complete Without Pastries

Adrian Stickney's impressive Stagecoach restaurant, cocktail lounge and coffee shop, located on the ground floor of the new, nine-story Fifth Avenue Center, is delighting diners who flock here for his famous barbecued meats, steaks and roasts, as well as a fine selection of sea foods.

First impressions are important - and you will be impressed with the beautifully carved wooden doors as you enter the Stagecoach restaurant and cocktail lounge from the lobby of the Fifth Avenue Center. Also adding interest to the motif are original paintings by leading western artists of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, and Old West artifacts.

The coffee shop, a popular meeting place for busy working people in the area and shoppers alike, is entered from the front of the Fifth Avenue Center, on El Camino Real.

Seating up to 300 people, the lower floor banquet room provides special parties with a large dance floor and an elaborately decorated bar.

If you're "filled up to the chin" after the main course, you can always purchase one of Stickney's wonderful pies, cakes, not to mention a variety of cookies and other pastries, to take home for a late evening snack. Bob Hoffmeyer—manager.

Monte Rio Water Carnival

In colorful Sonoma County, just 65 miles from the Bay Area, you'll find a true recreational paradise, Russian River.

Giant redwood forests, miles of beaches, and accommodations to fit all budgets, are what vacationers may expect here.

The Monte Rio Water Carnival, a yearly celebration and a certain fun time for all, runs from July 4 to 7.

For a free folder and more information, write to Russian River Region, P. O. Box 255-V, Guerneville.

Continuous Entertainment Le Carnival Feature

San Francisco's Le Carnaval, formerly The Balloon, now features such acts as "Bottomless Julie," "Topless Ping Pong" (a riot), and "Strip Poker."

Other carnival games found at this Kearny Street nitery include "Knock a nude out of bed."

Continuous entertainment and prizes are on the nightly agenda at Le Carnival.

The fire-engine red building which stands at the corner of Van Ness and Geary across from the Jack Tar Hotel was once a three-story Victorian mansion. Now, with its two top floors sliced off, it's a hofbrau restaurant and its name is Tommy's Joynt, owned, and operated by Tommy Harris, entertainer and singer from the early days of radio.

Signs proclaim the Joynt, the Oakland's Sea Wolf Scenically Situated

Located on Oakland's Historic Jack London Square at the end of Broadway, the scenically situated Sea Wolf restaurant enables small boats from surrounding areas to dock almost at the entrance.

One may watch the marine traffic on the Oakland-Alameda Estuary and take in the San Francisco skyline through large picture windows while dining in the handsomely decorated dining rooms and spacious lounge.

The luncheon and dinner menus are highlighted by a variety of dishes from the broiler, as well as sea food specialties.

General manager Ted Ince, a philanthropic millionaire when it comes to friends, recommends reservations; acres of free parking for motorists.

Tommy's Joynt—The Former Site Of A Three-Story Victorian Mansion

"One, Only and Original." It is. Novel as it is, the decor merely shows off the food - the big showcase with several carvers slicing bigger - than - average portions of turkey, ham, beef, pastrami and corned beef for sandwiches or hot plates, at less than average prices. Unique dishes like the buffalo stew, which is not served at any other restaurant in the west, demonstrates the showmanship that has made the Joynt a San Francisco landmark for the last 17 years.

On the refreshment side, 85 varieties of beers from all over the world are to be found at the Joynt, and behind the long bar a dozen imported cheeses and traditional hard-boiled eggs.

All kinds of celebrities find their way to the hofbrau. It's also a favorite hangout for professional athletes, residents and tourists.

The Plumed Horse Attracts Guests From Far and Near

Hie yourself to the Plumed Horse in Saratoga if you're seeking outstanding food, cheerfully-served in an atmosphere of yesteryear.

This charming restaurant, located on Big Basin Way in the Village of Saratoga, attracts guests from miles around to dine bounteously in its early California room reminiscent of pioneer days and the Victorian Bonanza Room.

Frances Anderson, gracious hostess-owner of this charming dining house, features such delectables as Rocky Mountain Trout, Stuffed with King Crab, Beef Burgundy, Chicken Saute Vienna and Roast Leg of Lamb.

You'll be delighted with the splendid choice of desserts - Chocolate Rum Pie, Black Forest Cake, and Mocha Cream.

Vineyard wines are included in an extensive list of beverages. Served at your table or enjoyed in the cozy period bar.

Both lunch and dinner is served. Closed Monday.

El Patio Mexican Restaurant One Of The Finest

Within three short years, Jim and Shelly Llewellyn have developed their El Patio Mexican restaurant in Menlo Park into one of the finest "South of the border" dining havens on the Peninsula.

Featuring the kitchen artistry of chef Robert Perez, the El Patio's luncheon and dinner menus are quite extensive, with prices just as appealing as the food.

Dinner selections include a wide range of enchiladas, pepper dishes, tacos, tostadas, and the El Patio's specialty—the Chef's Combination Plate.

Tapestries and posters of to-readers working with their capes adorn the walls. The dining tables, covered with red checkered cloths, are divided by a patio-type wrought iron fence for cozier dining. The resulting setting is off a serene, garden-like atmosphere of informality.

Prime Rib Steaks And Spareribs At Scotty Campbell's

A dining mecca for countless numbers from far and wide, Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City has long been a traditional restaurant name on the Peninsula.

Owners Theresa and Bud Urban, and Mary Lou Francis, Theresa's sister, have refurbished their restaurant with a colorful collection of antiques from all over the world. Dark woods and a fireplace lend hospitable warmth.

A variety of steaks, prime rib of beef and barbecued baby ribs are specialties of the house. Jumbo Lobster Tail, chicken and Beef Brochette, Flambee are other menu pleasures that are served by hearty waitresses costumed in Scottish attire.

For dessert, Maerd Eip, Scotty Campbell's own special cheese pie, is a sweet-tooth finish to a palate satisfying meal.

A wine list indicates that the selections were carefully chosen. For before and after-dinner cocktails, a softly-lighted bar-lounge is an inviting rendezvous for happy hearts.

Anastasia and Charles Gust Make Story Book History in Pacifica

When traveling down Pacifica way on a sunny afternoon or summer evening, you're sure to be attracted by the commanding view of the sandy beach, coves and ocean waves, which is a part of the attraction at Nick's restaurant and lounge at Rockaway Beach.

The Gust family has enriched the complete area with the progress of Nick's dining facilities and overnight accommodations.

Over 40 years ago, this was the site of a small town store run by Charles Gust, father of Nick, host-owner of this impressive dining mecca. While working for the Ocean Shore Railroad, Charles, who took an interest in real estate, recognized the future of this untouched country.

With his wife, Anastasia, Charles picked out a site at the end of a dirt road, which was to be later called Hewitt Avenue. This was the beginning of a vast restaurant empire. First, a country store was built, which included the sale of household goods and food. During the next 20 years, this crafty duo was to parley the small business into a lucrative landslide.

Since turning over the keys to their son, Nick, on their retirement, the Senior Gusts have watched Lorraine and Nick progress with the times. Today, there is a handsome 17-unit Seabreeze Motel adjacent to the well-appointed restaurant, lounge-bar, and banquet area.

Friday and Saturday night entertainment for dancing is provided by the Dick Snyder Combo; the sparkling organ music of Don Kelly is an enticing element Wednesday through Sunday, as are the nostalgic songs rendered by everyone's favorite girl, Mary Ann Hay.

Open seven days a week from 10 a.m. serving breakfast, luncheon and dinner.

Bernstein's Features "Cabin Boy" Specials For the Children

If you happen to be strolling down the lower Powell Street in San Francisco, it is not unusual to see one or several camera-carrying tourists stop before the ship prow, which juts over the sidewalk at 123 Powell, and pose for a picture.

Just as good an idea would be to step inside and ask Dick Bernstein, who captains this famous Bernstein's Fish Grotto, for a fall postcard.

The carved oak hull, with its figurehead surrounded by dark pilings, has the authentic look of a ship moored at wharfside. The authentic look pervades — from Drunken Dolphin bar and its brass portholes and six-foot carved wooden dolphin from the Fiji Islands to the ship-like interior, its gleaming brass fittings, masts, planking, canvas and cabins.

The food is equally authentic. Though fresh fish and shellfish dominate the extensive menu, chicken, steaks and spaghetti also appear. There are even "Cabin Boy" specials for children.

Every fish imaginable appears on the menu, Cherrystone clams, crab, lobster, squid, famous members of the sole family, trout, bass salmon abalone, on and on. Lobster Princess is a favorite for regulars.

First-timers often try the Captain's Special Hot Platter with an assortment of items. There are different styles of preparation — the squid is prepared in Calamari sauce or is French-fried. The same choice occurs with many other items. Bernstein's serves complete dinners and a la carte. Closed Sundays.

Coyote Point Castaway South Sea Island Atmosphere

For those incurable romantics who desire a matching setting as well as the finest in exotic food, the beautiful Castaway, located amongst tall eucalyptus trees at Coyote Point, San Mateo, demands your dining attention.

Looking out over the water of the Bay and the shores of the Peninsula, the panoramic view from this outstanding South Sea restaurant is breathtaking.

Congenial Jim Pias, the newly appointed manager, is a man with a flair for the artistic, as well as organization. His Castaway is patronized by people from all over the world, who revel in its tropical serenity.

Both luncheon and dinner are served at the Castaway, with the lovely waitresses dressed in gay mau mau, and the waiters attired in colorful Hawaiian-style shirts.

Exotic drinks of the South Pacific are available in the cocktail lounge.

Gust Family to Announce Opening Date Of New Moonraker Restaurant-Lounge

At long last, readers of "Bright Lights" column, who have been inquiring about The Moonraker, are to be enlightened.

As described in Mr. Webster's Dictionary, Moonraker is a "sail rigged above a skysail."

In days gone by, Moonraker was the name seafarers gave certain type sailing ships (those with full sail rigged high into the air). At night, the top sail gave the appearance of literally "raking the moon."

Nick and Lorraine Gust, crafty Pacific restaurateurs, have selected the name "Moonraker" for their new restaurant, which will preem in the very near future. Because the Gust family believes in perfection first and haste second, The Moonraker opening, which was scheduled for July 4 and July 5, was postponed.

With a series of high-powered floodlights to ignite the surf and sand of Rockaway Beach, a spectacular view from every table in the tiered dining room is assured.

The latest addition to the Gust restaurant domain is sure to be on everyone's "something to see" list.

Six-Course Family Style Dinners For Yolanda's Patrons

Firm believers in old-fashioned family togetherness, Yolanda's Terminal Cafe and Lounge in South San Francisco, and Manager Chuck Winstead have come up with a dine-out coup in the restaurant industry.

They are offering six-course "old country" family-style Italian dinners for the remarkable price of $3 per person (for adults). In addition, seven-ounce bottle of wine is served. Children (under 12) may dine at half price, $1.50.

Yolanda, Lawrence Welk's original "Champagne Lady," has been persuaded to sing a few vocals on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

For most, Yolanda's Terminal Cafe is conveniently located at the Golden Gate Produce Terminal. Those not familiar with the South City area should consult the map shown in the restaurant's advertisements.

Corn-Fed Beef Chuck's Steak House Feature

Canning Stevens, the articulate manager of Chuck's Steak House on Borel Avenue, San Mateo, is a restaurant owner with success after his name.

The meat served patrons here is all Black Angus, corn-fed and Eastern beef. A choice of steak, in various cuts, or sizes is featured, although lobster, or a combination of both, are most popular.

Canning's wife, Carol, the one responsible for all the framed molding on the walls, assists in the dining room and lounge.

Chuck's Steak House is now open for luncheon, which enables many Peninsulans to enjoy Chuck's famous steak and lobster during noontime meals.

Country and Western Music Morocco Room

Country and Western recording star Bobby Wyld is featured during "round-up" time every weekend at Half Moon Bay's Morocco Room.

Backed musically by his Countrymen, "Bad Bill" Marshall, "Corn Pone" Fred and "Rim Shot" Burke, Bobby and his group take the bandstand on Friday and Saturday nights from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

The Country and Western sounds couldn't be livelier, and the Morocco Room's spacious dance floor insures plenty of foot action.

Pancho's "Branch Office" Pizza Plus-Next Door

Pancho's Mexican Cafe, located at Five Points in Redwood City, is a "show place" restaurant, which has won countless awards for food and design.

Emphasizing the charms of Mexico, Pancho's presents zesty Mexican dishes comparable to only the best restaurants actually found "South of the border." To enhance the Mexican scene, authentic Mexican music is played during the luncheon and dinner hours.

"One taste is worth 10,000 words," is the culinary creed at Pancho's. Handsome, dark-haired manager Ambrosio Mal-

TOLA MOLDONADO Member of Pancho's Mexican Cafe staff places a heaping plate of well-seasoned food into the special oven.

Action Starts A Harold's Silver

He springs and bounces and sings with the enthusiasm of a man making a living at something that's more fun than work.

He's Dick Roman and he's heading the Silver Dollar Room in Harold's Club, Reno.

Concentrating musically on what's happening, Roman makes happy trips through the best of new compositions, traveling with zip and punch from the bewitching hour till dawn.

Action in Harold's Silver Dollar Room begins at 5 p.m. each day, except Thursday through Saturday when the second floor music box turns on three hours early at 2 p.m.

Four different acts rotate from dusk to dawn in new shows every hour on the hour.

donado and his wife Tola are always on hand to insure complete patron satisfaction.

Adjacent to Pancho's (also managed by Ambrosio) is Pizza Plus. Open daily from 4:30 p.m., and where the "happy people" congregate, Pizza Plus has only been open for business a few months. Serving steaks, spaghetti, and, of course, pizza, Ambrosio says that his staff adds that little extra something that makes their Pizza Plus.

At Pizza Plus, all food can be prepared "to go." Live entertainment on Friday and Saturday nights.

Both Pancho's and Pizza Plus are located on El Camino Real, just off the Woodside Overpass.

San Francisco Hilton Plans 43-Story Addition to Hotel

Plans for construction of the 43-story addition to the San Francisco Hilton, construction of which will make the hotel the tallest West of Chicago, are now in the final stages, according to Henri Lewin, vice president of Hilton Hotels Corporation in charge of Northern California operations and managing director of the San Francisco Hilton.

Construction of the new addition is slated to begin late this year, says Lewin.

The new structure will feature 700 rooms, with a rooftop restaurant and cocktail lounge. Upon completion of the more than $15 million addition, scheduled for early 1970, the San Francisco Hilton will have a total of 1900 rooms.

"We are extremely proud of our plans," remarks Lewin, "and we know the additional rooms — and convention facilities — will be an economic boon, not only to San Francisco, but to residents of the Peninsula as well."

With the addition, the Hilton will have the largest convention facilities on the West Coast.

John Carl Warnecke and Associates, with offices in San Francisco, Honolulu, Washington, D.C., and New York, are the architects.

Currently featured in the intimate Kaleidoscope Room of the Hilton is Abe Battat's popular band, which plays music for dancing each Friday and Saturday evening from 9 p.m.

Other popular Hilton get-togethers include luncheons in the Hilton's famous California Wine Garden, with its Continental buffet and complete selection of the finest California wines, and elegant dinners in the beautiful Bellagio Room.

Al Wallace and his strolling violinists provide background music for dining in the Hilton's Chef's Table restaurant, where dramatic flaming dishes are featured on the dinner menu.

A more casual dining atmosphere is offered in the Gazebo coffee shop, which also features a full selection of breakfast and luncheon dishes.

JACK CARTER AND BIMBO CUT A CAKE—Comedian Jack Carter, who headlines the current show at Bimbo's 365 Club, celebrated his birthday on opening night after his first show. He was presented with a surprise birthday cake on stage, courtesy of Mr. Bimbo. Bimbo himself, was called to the stage, where emcee Bill Gordon of KGO Comedy Time saluted him on the occasion of the thirty-seventh anniversary of the 365.

Enjoy Summer Vacations At Hilton Inn On Peninsula

A continuing success of the Hilton Inn at San Francisco's International Airport is the "fun-in-the-sun" summer special for Peninsula residents, according to Donald J. Devoto, manager.

A 50 per cent discount on room or suite rates for local residents on any Friday, Saturday or Sunday evening throughout the summer months is offered — subject to availabilities — by the luxurious Hilton Inn.

Daytime hours may be spent lounging in the resort-type atmosphere about the Hilton's Olympic-size swimming pool, and, in the evening, elegant dining facilities are available in the newly-decorated French Corner restaurant, part of the Hilton's recent $500,000 renovation and improvement program.

Featured in the French Corner is the famous Chef's Table, with Al Thomas, strolling violinist, and Maurice Anger at the piano.

Many improvements were made in the Mark Twain Cocktail Lounge, where guests may spend a quiet, warm summer evening after dining in the French Corner. The piano bar lends a casual air Tuesday through Saturday evenings.

For the swingers, Bill Gilbert's Tiger Room features the wild sounds of The Joint Venture, and, of course, the shapely Tiger Girls.

Casual daytime snacks — or complete lunches and dinners — are available in the Hilton's coffee shop.

Cardinal Room

Opens Palo Alto

The Cardinal Room, a luxuriously appointed new cocktail lounge, formally opened its doors at 4224 El Camino, Palo Alto June 19, with a festive grand opening celebration.

Formerly the Lanidrac (Cardinal spelled backwards), it is still owned and managed by Al Pitarino, who operated the popular dancing and cocktail spot for 21 years.

Gene Pickett, a leading Peninsula entertainer, presides at the enlarged organ-bar every evening, where he plays for listening, singing or dancing on the smooth, new parquet dance floor.

Genial bar men Frank Nerli and Andy Mangini continue as expert mixologists at the handsomely redecorated lounge, which is located across from Rickey's Hyatt House.

Comedian Jack

Carter Featured

At Bimbo's 365

Bimbo's 365 Theater Restaurant is celebrating its thirty-seventh anniversary. Featured is comedian Jack Carter, master of many types of humor, from the rapid-fire one-liner to the most complex of monologues, along with the pixie red-headed singer Penny Pryor, who, until recently, was a guitarist in the Xavier Cugat revue.

Carter, who in recent years has taken to playing assorted comic types in films and on television shows (he has been most recently as a haunted house salesman in "I Dream o' Jeanie"), is one of a few comedians credited with making a reputation on Broadway. Among his more famous roles have been "Mr. Wonderful," "Top Banana," and "Call Me Mister."

"An inventive comic can go beyond a character and find laughs when there are none," says Carter. "Most comedians have acting talent; they run the gamut of emotions when they are on."

Carter has worked in recent years to form a repertory theater company in Paramus, New Jersey.

The 365 orchestra is under the direction of Dick Foy.

A new and different type of menu was recently introduced. Featuring corn-fed choice beef as the house specialty, the menu includes bacon wrapped Filet Mignon, choice New York Steak, thick Top Sirloin, Roast Prime Rib and Australian Lobster Tail. $3.95 will buy any entrée on the menu.

Plans are being made for paving of the complete lot behind the restaurant, which will offer ample free parking for Fork 'n' Cork patrons.

While enjoying their meals, diners may gaze through the surrounding picture windows at the beautifully landscaped banks of a natural stream and a splashing waterfall.

The rustic structure (next to the old Hillbarn Theater) is shaded by a grove of pines and oaks. Enclosed by glass is a gigantic pine, which grows through the building.

Both luncheons and dinners are served at Carito's, with the menu prices being in the moderate price range.

Fred can usually be found behind the plank in the intimate cocktail lounge, where he serves the before and after-dinner relaxers. Piano bar entertainment on Friday and Saturday nights.

Seafaring Patrons Drop Anchor

"Captain" Duane Eckert, head mate at downtown San Mateo's Cap'n's Cabin, currently enjoys a patronage envied by many lounge owners.

Duane and co-owner Dave Rasmussen, who also owns the adjacent Shadows restaurant, have two top plankmen — the two Johns, Pete and Savini.

Together, they make dandy "fellow mates" for the "seafaring patrons," as they both speak with knowledge on any topic of current interest.

You name it, and this lounge decorated with a sea voyage in mind, has it! You'll find it's a great place to "drop anchor" anytime of the day.

Emmett O'Neill Invites You To Silver Club

San Mateo's own Emmett O'Neill and Casino Manager Bill Ebinger invite Peninsula residents to visit their luxurious, "AN-New" Silver Club in Sparks, Nevada.

Open 24 hours a day, the sprawling "B" Street gambling mecca holds the usual Nevada enticements that Californians find exciting.

Besides the casino, there is a modern coffee shop operation, which is open to the public "round the clock."

For many years Emmett was a well known personality on the Peninsula, and if you should happen to see him, don't forget to say hello.

Luncheons Served Daily At El Rancho

The current rage around the Millbrae area is the sumptuous buffet luncheons served daily at the El Rancho restaurant.

Chef Rudy Ish somehow manages to present every type of cold cut, salad and luncheon entree on the attractively-arranged buffet spread for the hungry noontime crowds.

Also serving breakfast and dinner, the El Rancho enjoys a loyal patronage. Besides the "in and out" guests from the adjacent El Rancho Motel, many of Rudy's patrons have been dining here for years.

The Mermaid Room features organ bar entertainment nightly, except Tuesday. Those sitting at the El Rancho's bar are able to watch underwater movements in the motel's swimming pool through one of the world's largest underwater windows.

Three banquet and meeting rooms are available. Blanche Patroni is the one in charge of planning most group occasions (up to 250 persons may be accommodated).

Broadwalk Newest Topless Club Recruits "Lookers" From Bay Area

San Mateo's unique Broadwalk, the Bay Area's newest topless club which is co-owned by well-known Peninsula club owner Yvonne Modica, and Bob Colonna, the man responsible for creating Palo Alto's The Morgue, boasts of a "one-of-a-kind" interior decor.

The stage has been designed as a forward hull of a ship, and, of course, an appropriate name has also been provided. Across from the "ship," on the left side of the room, is the actual "broadwalk," where the girls pickup their food and beverage orders.

Colonna has recruited several of the area's most beautiful girls to perform, with the starring attraction being Angellique, a petite English beauty who appeared with James Bond as the "007" girl in the film, "Thunderball."

Featured also will be the "Nude Mermaid," who will cavort for patrons in the club's glass swimming pool. Add to this the topless antics of several other dancers, and you'll understand why the name "Broadwalk" was chosen.

Alberto, the North Beach artist who created epidermal art, personally choreographed the dancer's routines, and will also be on hand nightly as the club's emcee.

The Broadwalk is open 7 days a week, with hot Hof Brau lunches served from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Be certain to ask about Beach Club Courtesy Cards.

SHECKY GREENE
Harvey's Wagon Wheel

Shecky Greene In Action

When Shecky Greene appeared in the Frank Sinatra movie, "Tony Rome," as a gun-toting bad boy, no one at South Lake Tahoe was surprised — either at the role he played or the ease and skill with which he carried it off.

Shecky Greene, now appearing at Harvey's Resort Hotel Pavilion of the Stars through July 9, not only looks rugged enough to handle a dozen hoods at once, he possesses the dramatic ability so necessary to a comedian.

"Funny you should mention that," Shecky laughs. "It was weird. Frank Sinatra won't do a scene over once it's shot, you know. So in this dramatic scene in Tony Rome, the climax, I had to ask him for a cigarette. I don't smoke so it didn't come naturally."

"I said, can you lend me a cigarette. Lend! Can you imagine? I'm a tough gunman asking my enemy to loan me a cigarette! But Sinatra wouldn't do it over."

"Weird about that," says characteristically.

Weird too that Shecky hasn't had more dramatic or comic film roles in movies or television.

Vince Licata Transplants Fisherman's Wharf to the Peninsula

Vince Licata, who started his culinary career at the early age of 10 when he served apprenticeship with his father on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf, established his Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant in San Mateo in 1945, bringing Fisherman's Wharf to the Peninsula.

With the passing of Vince's father in 1940, the San Francisco business was handed down to the two Licata sons. Forseeing great possibilities for growth on the Peninsula, Vince sold his interest to his brother and opened a small restaurant in San Mateo.

Vince's foresight paid off in good measure, as the word soon spread that "Fisherman's Wharf had arrived on the Peninsula." His small seafood diner, which included an outdoor fish

LORRAINE GAY
Belmont Chuck Wagon

Bells Of Stone Mountain Unique Tourist Attraction

First-time visitors to Historic Stone Mountain, Georgia, are sometimes startled when they enter the park and hear a carillon playing. The notes seem to reverberate across the 3600 acre park.

The music is beautiful, haunting and definitely not associated with the average tourist attraction. But then Historic Stone Mountain does not claim to be average.

Lorraine Gay Sparks Belmont Chuck Wagon

Keyboard artist Lorraine Gay, as cheery and effervescent as her name, is a solid attraction at the Belmont Chuck Wagon.

One of those rare entertainers who likes what she does, and does everything well, Lorraine's repertoire of songs is so extensive, she is rarely stumped on a request.

Lorraine doubles as an outstanding vocalist, equally adept at smooth ballads such as "Born Free" and up-tempo tunes.

You can catch her show at the Belmont Chuck Wagon any Thursday through Saturday evening.

First H. Salt, esq. Fish and Chips Location Was Sausalito

With more than 40 fish and chips shops in Northern California now bearing his name, H. Salt, esq., Haddon Salt, who hails from Skegness, England, in the heart of fish and chips country, adds to his list the recent opening of H. Salt, esq. Fish and Chips Shoppe, located at 20 West Forty-second Avenue in San Mateo which is under the proprietorship of Lawrence George.

In 1964, Salt arrived in California. He selected this tsate because so many of his customers hailed from here and he felt he would be among friends.

The first H. Salt, esq. shop opened in Sausalito in 1963. So selected because, sooner or later, he felt every Californian turns up there, and he could spread the gospel of authentic English fish and chips more rapidly.

An interesting statistic quoted by Salt is that in England, every man, woman and child consumes an average of 100 pounds of fish a year while in America the figure barely approaches 10 pounds a year.

Salt is frank in stating that there might be a slight wait for an order simply because they fry on request to assure that the product is piping hot, which is the only way to enjoy fish and chips.

When asked if he had any closing remarks to address to fish-haters, Haddon Salt commented, "I would certainly like to invite 'my enemies' to try my fish and chips."

H. Salt of Skegness, England likes everything about America —except domestic fish and chips.

SO HE DID SOMETHING DELICIOUS ABOUT IT

He has introduced authentic English fish and chips to America. He has created and zealously guarded the recipe for the authentic batter that has come from his experience in the fish and chips profession while a resident of the Old Country. It imparts a flavour that can only be described as 'heavenly'. Pop in, and take out an order of authentic fish and chips. One taste and you'll discover why this nourishing and utterly delightful treat has been Great Britain's great national dish since 1866.

Villa Chartier—The Lanai A Tradition Since 1925

Since 1925, "Meet me at the Villa Chartier" has been a tradition on the Peninsula.

Owner Emerson Murfee has gone to great lengths to give his patrons the last word in luxurious comfort and decor in which to entertain their friends, families, business associates and out-of-town guests.

Business appointments, luncheon dates, dinner parties, cocktails before and after the theater, banquets and entertainment are Villa Chartier specialties.

Walter Ginsky, who tosses a "Caesar Salad" with culinary finesse, is the cordial host of the splendid Villa Chartier.

Nine well-appointed banquet rooms are available. The dazzling Winchester Room, seating over 250 guests, has its own private bar and dance floor.

Another outstanding feature here is the Gift Certificate — which may be used at any time and for any gift occasion.

Also under the Murfee roof is the exotic Lanai restaurant, which is located next door to the Villa Chartier. Once through the hand-carved front door you enter the serenity of the South Sea Islands and all its tropical splendor.

A colorful waterfall, exotic orchid plants, authentic luau pit, where suckling pigs are prepared for festive occasions—all are a part of this relaxing atmosphere. Tropical drinks blended with care; foods of the Orient, Indies and Hawaii are featured.

Bernard Abrams is once again at the hosting helm of this tropical paradise; Olin Jones is the manager; Emerson Murfee is the owner and director of operations.

Hillsdale Inn Social Center and Meeting Place

San Mateo's Hillsdale Inn is one of the busiest Motor Hotels in the Bay Area. Not only is the Inn "home away from home" for many travelers from distant points, but it is also a social center and meeting place for numerous Peninsulans.

The Sportsmen's Steak Pit, operated by restaurateur Frank Martinelli, can be considered one of the top steakeries on anyone's dine out list.

The Coffee Shop, which is open 24 hours a day, is a welcome haven for travelers arriving at late hours, and "nite owls," who crave early-morning snacks.

Besides the food and lodging, the Hillsdale Inn offers other outstanding enticements. The handling and planning of wedding receptions ranks high on the busy schedule of Inn co-owner and Catering Manager Fred Williams. A complete service for future brides-to-be is a specialty here — including floral arrangements and photography.

Along with the duties performed by Williams, the management of the Hillsdale Inn is shared by Roy Nelson, who is also a co-owner.

Pancakes of All Nations Featured Foster's Menu

To complement the natural goodness of crisp, golden brown fried chicken, a blend of spices is the secret of Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken, as countless satisfied patrons who dine at Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House, located across from the Hillsdale Shopping Mall in San Mateo, are finding out.

Because it's placed in the Henny Penny cooker which controls time and temperatures automatically, the thick crust on Foster's Farm Fried Chicken is just right.

Foster's menu also suggests a variety of pancakes — French, German, Swedish, Palestine, Hawaiian, and a number of different All-American flavors — blueberry, apple, potato and buttermilk.

Born within the shadows of the Acropolis in Athens, lovely Marina Roc, who is appearing in the showroom of Alexis Zorba Supperclub in Burlingame for a limited engagement, rose to the footlights of the Greek theater to become one of Athens' most brilliant stars.

After trying her hand at musical comedy, Miss Roc ascended into the plush Greek supper clubs as Athens' first lady of song.

Mr. Michales Souyoul, who had influenced the dramatic change in Greek music immediately after the Second World War, was responsible for this dramatic change in Miss Roc's career by urging her to become a singer and not an actress.

If music is the universal language of all mankind, then Marina Roc can well qualify as one of the loveliest. This remarkable continental beauty has the ability to transcend the barriers of language and to translate the lyrical message into Greek, Spanish, Hebrew, French Italian, Turkish and English.

Join the crowds at Alexis Zorba Supperclub this week and hear this versatile song stylist as you enjoy Greek cuisine served in an atmosphere of merriment and well-being.

SURF HOUSE MUSIC MAKERS—The John Hersch Trio and Jac Moses are proving a big Friday and Saturday evening attraction as they entertain for dinner-dancing.

John Hersch Trio, Jac Moses at the Surf House

Ron Giannotti's Surf House "by the Lagoon" in San Mateo plays host to Peninsula personalities and world travelers, alike, in the quietly sumptuous dining room and bar lounge.

Good food promptly and pleasantly served is a primary function here. Banquet space for special parties; both a la carte and full course for luncheon and dinner.

Dapper Ron, the "spark" in this well-organized restaurant, personally greets his guests and enjoys chatting on all subjects—quarter horses and real estate being his best bets.

Dancing Friday and Saturday nights to the music of the John Hersch Trio and Jac Moses.

Joe and Lou Ercoli Winning Team

Joe and Lou Ercoli's elegant Leaning Tower restaurant, in South San Francisco, offers superb Italian Cuisine served in a sophisticated atmosphere.

This dynamic brother team, who inherited the restaurant from their father, European chef Francois Ercoli, personally supervise preparation of each meal. They work together in handling the many banquets and special group affairs that are constantly being booked in the restaurant's excellent banquet facilities.

Menu choices range from delicate Italian dishes to a special Giant New York Steak, which is featured during baseball season. Also, Joe calmly states that the restaurant's Cannelloni is the best in the world.

In the springtime, Joe and Lou also sponsor an annual golf tournament.

A new partner, Rick Toto, has just been added, and the three energetic restaurateurs are in the process of planning a full-scale expansion program, which will include both the restaurant and adjacent parking facilities.

Peruvian And Seafood Specials

Frank Torres' Beach Hotel, in Montara, is a coastside dining haven famous for Peruvian dishes and seafood.

Frank, who has been on your Bright Lighter's restaurant beat for over 16 years, has the culinary knowledge for old-country Peruvian dinners that few restaurateurs can compare too.

His menu also lists steaks, plus a wide dessert selection, of which Baked Alaska is much favored.

While dining at Frank Torres', patrons gaze out through the restaurant's thirteen picture windows and watch the rolling waves of the Pacific wash in. After dinner, many couples decide to slip off their shoes and go for a short jaunt on the beach.

On Friday and Saturday nights, Bob Howard's orchestra play their modern sounds for dinner-dancing.

Dine Chuck Wagon Style At San Mateo Black Angus

Chuck Wagon style dining is prevalent in the restaurant industry, and the smorgasbord manner of eating out has always been extremely popular with families. But there seem to be few "All you can eat" dining places serving the same quality of food usually found in a restaurant providing menu selections.

Right in San Mateo is a definite exception of the rule—Vern Coenenberg, owner and "foreman" of the Black Angus Chuck Wagon, features one of the West's largest "All you can eat" food displays to be found under one restaurant roof.

All food is personally prepared under the supervision of Chef James Pearce, who was formerly with Nevada's Diamond Lil's and Rancho Vegas.

Eat as much as you wish at the Black Angus—seconds, thirds and fourths. The price for dinner is $1.75; luncheon guests dine for only $1.40.

The handling of seating arrangements and waiter service leaves nothing to be desired. A cozy cocktail lounge is also on the premises.

Family Trade Welcome Mat At J and G

Families dining at the J and G restaurant in San Mateo have found the family entrance to be a welcome mat.

Chicken Cacciatore and Veal Scallopine are just two very enticing entrees prepared by chef-owner Joe Salmi, who knows Italian cooking from A to Z.

Guido Bianchina, the other half of this duo-owned restaurant, which is known for its neighborliness, tends bar and keeps his sports-minded patrons up to date on sports events.

Visiting Church Dignitaries To Bruno's

Guests at Bruno's in the Mission District, San Francisco, enjoyed shaking hands with Bishops Mark Hurley and A. W. Thomas, Monsignor Lawrence Goodac and Father Parona, all of Bathurst, Australia.

The visiting Church dignitaries had heard of Bruno's famous Special "way down under" and had to be convinced. Judging from their smiles, they were.

PLENTY OF PARKING

Victor J. Bergeron "Trader Vic"

Victor J. Bergeron, known throughout the world as Trader Vic, began his career in the culinary arts with a tiny chop-house in Oakland which accommodated 50 patrons — Hinky Dink's. With $500 of his own, two barrels of beer and $25 borrowed from his brother, the now world-famous restaurateur served a three-course business-man's lunch for 35 cents. It was an overnight success and attracted a large and varied clientele from San Francisco across the bay as well as Oakland.

When his doctor advised Bergeron to slow up, the Trader made his first trip to Tahiti. Returning, rested and raring to go, with a new look for Hinky Dink's (guns, spears, bamboo, handwoven mats, nets and even an outrigger or two), his interest in the South Seas and the Orient whetted. Vic added Chinese and Javanese dishes to the menu. He opened for dinner, added several new rooms, and the "original" Trader Vic's was born.

Oakland is the hub of a 16-city group of restaurants including San Francisco; New York; Chicago; Boston, Mass.; Scottsdale, Arizona; Houston and Dallas, Texas; Seattle, Washington; Vancouver, B.C.; Portland, Oregon; Los Angeles; Denver, Colorado; Washington, D.C.; St. Louis; and London, England. In November, 1964, Trader Vic departed from the Polynesian theme he imprinted by opening "Senor Pico," a Mexican-Early California restaurant in San Francisco's Ghirardelli Square. The second Senor Pico opened its doors in Century City, Los Angeles, acclaimed by many to be the most beautiful restaurant in the United States.

The secret of Trader Vic's unique and fantastic success lies in the man himself, who has patterned an organization after his own imaginative and endlessly energetic self.

He is in constant touch with his organization, flying from one restaurant to another to handle various details and he encourages a "do-it-yourself" spirit throughout the Trader Vic family.

For instance, when Trader Vic's in London opened to a swank Mayfair exclusive first night crowd, the opening hit a brief snag with London's chefs' union. Executive vice president Chan Wong pitched in as a cook. And at a huge political rally in his Washington, D.C. restaurant, Vic himself and the restaurant manager tended bar when a sudden illness left the bar short-handed.

VICTOR BERGERON

Because of the multitude of duties of a Trader Vic's staffer, everyone connected with the restaurants in a managerial capacity learns to do everything, from tending bar to poaching mahi mahi — the exotic dolphin fish from the Hawaiian Islands. Bergeron's two sons, who are now a part of the corporate team, began their indoctrination as dishwashers. And the same vice president who doubled as the London chef, began his career as Vic's first employee at Hinky Dink's.

The majority of Vic's crew from London to Los Angeles has been with him for years, gaining authority and stature with tenure. To Vic, they are the key to the superior quality which the Trader Vic's have been able to maintain in spite of rapid expansion.

As each new restaurant opens, an auxiliary crew picked from all the Trader Vic's restaurants in the general area works side by side with new employees. They stay on until everyone concerned is convinced the new restaurant can operate at top performance.

Trader Vic, however, has the last word before each restaurant opens. The night before the grand opening, tradition has it that Vic, his executive vice president and a crew of workmen lock themselves in the restaurant, with boxes of Tahitian decor and a case of beer, and bit by bit add the now famous tropical atmosphere.

Heap Big Sandwiches— Heap Big Beef Fashion

"Indians Have invaded Millbrae." But instead of "war," they are distributing what has to be one of the greatest "peace time" offers ever, Heap Big Beef sandwiches. The nationally renowned Heap Big Beef food chain arrived in Millbrae several months ago, and now such phrases of "Indian Lingo" as "Heap Big," "Shawnee," and "Indianaid" are common in surrounding households.

A franchise operation, directed in this area by Ted Scheley, Heap Big Beef's food fare is as simple as the "Tepee"-style design of the building.

Sandwiches, cooked to order, are what hungry patrons find on this "reservation." The favorite, of course, is the 69 cent Heap Big sandwich. For larger appetites, there is also a Great Big Beef sandwich, which is a double serving of beef for $1.09. Both sandwiches consist of the finest roast beef, served piping hot on a toasted sesame seed bun.

Personable manager Tom Hickey also lists French fries, several different types of drinks (including the gigantic "Shawnee Shake") and Pawnee Pies on the menu.

International Garden's Dishes Of All Nations

Located on Broadway and owned and operated by Bela Szlavik, Burlingame's charming International Garden restaurant features menu specials running through the complete month. 30 (or 31) different dishes are listed, with each dish representing a different nation. One nation is served each day of the month.

12 different American and Continental entrees are also listed on the International Garden's menu. Hungarian Beef Goulash and Stuffed Chicken are served every day on an a la carte basis.

An extensive selection of fine wines and beers is also provided.

Although small, the dining room of the International Garden has considerable to offer in the way of atmosphere. Hand painted plates from Europe, foreign flags, and interesting pictures lend international flavor to the restaurant's walls. Candles on every table, and quaint wall lamps add just the right amount of glow for intimate dining.

Townsend's Is S.F. Dining Tradition

Townsend's, on Geary Street, near Union Square and the downtown shopping area, carries on a San Francisco dining tradition that dates back to the year 1856. Besides the convenient location, this famous "foodmark" also has a bakery, and candy and gift shops on the premises.

Cherished by many, the Danish baked and buttered pastry has long been a Townsend's specialty.

Mrs. George Abrams is the current owner and manager of Townsend's, and she particularly invites fashionable Peninsula women to the restaurant's Wednesday afternoon fashion shows, which are held from 12 noon to 1:30 p.m.

Royal Dishes Of China Hong Kong Specialty

Belmont's Hong Kong restaurant, owned by Quock Lem Hom, features moderately priced Chinese family-style dinners ranging from $2.70 for dinner for two, or $6.75 for a complete dinner for five.

Also a wide selection of special chef's dishes (including the fabulous Royal dishes). Prices are all most reasonable.

Besides the Chinese dishes, Quock also offers a wide selection of American sandwiches. All orders at the Hong Kong can be prepared to take out, and Quock estimates that almost 40 per cent of his business is just that.

The Hong Kong is located on Ralston Avenue, just one block off El Camino Real.

Chez Michel Gottlieb Creation

Since opening in December of last year, Millbrae's lavish Chez Michel restaurant has rapidly become one of the most distinguished restaurants on the Peninsula.

Located in the Thunderbolt Hotel, and a personal creation of hotel owners Michael and Grayce Gottlieb, the Chez Michel is as French in cuisine and decor as the name depicts. No detail has been neglected in creating an image of elegance.

For pleasurable dinner-dancing, the Cava Combo perform nightly with their special brand of music and light comedy. Direct from the Sands in Las Vegas, the vocal stylings of lovely Jo Anne Roe are featured.

Reservations are usually requested (especially on weekends), and dashing Maitre 'd' Fernand Wagner is the man to call.

Distinctive Dining for Particular People

Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, in South San Francisco, offers distinctive dining and top-notch entertainment geared for particular people.

Airport travelers are abundant here, as the Holiday is only minutes away from San Francisco International Airport.

Dining in the Royal Hall is a delightful experience for all. Whether "royalty" or not, patrons feel like kings and queens from the very moment they enter the lavish dining room.

The adjacent Lancer Lounge, one of the most attractive cocktail lounges on the Peninsula, provides a favorite relaxing rendezvous for many executives who utilize the Holiday Inn's facilities.

Banquet and meeting accommodations are most desirable and are usually booked months in advance.

With so much to offer, Food and Beverage Manager Claude Schroeder, a master of organization, is always on hand to keep all activities running smoothly.

Gary Long, one of the top "88'ers" in the business, provides the entertainment every night, except Sunday.

The Holiday is now in the process of expansions, with 80 additional rooms scheduled to premier by Fall of this year.

Sil Oliva's Name Coast To Coast Byword

People from all over the world have at one time or another visited San Francisco's famous Fisherman's Wharf, and Sil Olivas Exposition Fish Grotto has been one of the "must see" dine-out places listed on tourists' "don't miss" pads.

An avid sports fan, Sil is an interesting conversationalist on the subject of the fight game. Many notables in this field of endeavor make the Exposition Fish Grotto a dining retreat whenever in the Bay Area.

Sil's right hand helpers are Augie Rosasco, Harold Varni, Angelo Pinetti, Max Horowitz, Armando Franceschini and Chef Art Davis, and a better crew no man could ask.

Chowders, Exposition salads of many kinds, oysters prepared several different ways, and fish entrees (specialties of the house) are abundant.

A fine bottle of wine with your meal adds flavor mingled with seafood, chicken and meats.

Steak Diane Flamed at Tableside

L'Auberge partners, George Bollag, master chef, and Louis Fruttschl, maitre d'hotel, blend to present one of Northern California's most distinguished French restaurants.

Inspired haute cuisine is served in relaxed country inn atmosphere.

Specialties include Steak Diane (prepared in chafing dish and flamed at tableside), Veal Chop Grille Zingara, Scampi Borelaise.

Open seven days for dinner, Mondays through Friday for luncheons.

Unparalleled wine list, tempting flaming desserts. Private banquet rooms.

Tepper And Nelson Cabana's Nero's Nook

The fresh, young musical comedy team of Tepper and Nelson is currently spotlighted in the Cabana Hotel's Nero's Nook, Palo Alto.

Featuring the sarcastic, extremely dry wit of pint-sized Herbie Tepper, and the trumpet artistry and vocal stylings of Nelson, the act will run for another week.

Tepper and Nelson appear nightly from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m., except Sunday, in the Cabana's posh Las Vegas-style lounge.

Romano's For Italian Dining Authentic Style

Located in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica and only minutes away from the Peninsula, Romano's Italian restaurant offers an exciting experience for anyone looking for Italian food prepared with an authentic flare.

Enrico Romano and his mother, Enricketta, first opened a little restaurant serving pizza exclusively. It didn't take long for those driving to the beach area (and the natives) to recognize the true value of their culinary talents.

Prepared from old country recipes, all pizza (many different kinds and sizes) was also packaged to take out.

Italian dishes were soon to grace the tables of this growing restaurant, with many of the recipes coming from Enricketta's private cooking files.

A bar was later to be added, which instigated the redecorating of the dining room, now resembling a typical Italian garden for informal dining.

Las Vegas Riviera's Phyllis Diller Credits Bob Hope for Her Sky Rocket to Fame

One can count on the fingers of a single hand, the number of truly topflight comedienne who have walked the boards in the past two decades. Once past Fanny Brice, Gracie Allen, Lucy Ball, Bea Lillie and Phyllis Diller, the list strays off to a variety of lesser talents who were unable to "sustain" over an extended period.

Few entertainers have demonstrated the box office power which has become synonymous with the Diller name. The Riviera has been SRO since her opening night and, with the expected influx of summer vacationers, it should continue through closing night July 8.

A comparative unknown when she decided on a comedy career in nightclubs approximately 13 years ago, Phyllis put together an act which was neither fish nor fowl. She did impressions of movie stars which went over like the proverbial lead balloon. The comedy material which wowed 'em when she entertained at parties as a non-professional, wasn't funny in Miami.

Then came the rollicking appearances on the Paar show and the most important introduction of her life — to Bob Hope.

"It was love at first sight," she reminisced. "He's truly one of God's great people and I can never hope to repay his many kindnesses. It's been a dream working with Hope."

On a clear day, one can see forever where Miss Diller's career is concerned. She has made three delightful films with Hope, one of which premiered in Hollywood only a fortnight ago.

"I ended my nightclub engagement in Lake Tahoe one night early in order that I could appear onstage with Bob for the premiere of 'The Private Navy of Sgt. O'Farrell' at the Chinese Theatre in Hollywood," she said. "The next night, he was supposed to come over to Las Vegas to introduce me at the Riviera, but he got sick and had to go to the hospital for a complete rest. He said he'd come over before I close if the doctors allow it."

PHYLLIS DILLER
Riviera — Las Vegas

No story about Phyllis Diller would be complete without mentioning the legendary "Fang," her handsome husband, Warde Donovan.

"We work together as often as our schedules will permit and that's the way we like it," said Donovan. "She's a great gal and a brilliant talent!"

"That's typical Fang," she interrupted, "always putting me down."

An Original On Fisherman's Wharf

Familiar to everyone who has ever visited Fisherman's Wharf, Alioto's restaurant is one San Francisco's original Wharf landmarks.

Operated by Frank Alioto and his mother, Rose, Alioto's elegant Mediterranean Room offers one of the most outstanding views of Golden Gate Bridge and the fishing fleet while dining amid the beauty of luxurious furnishings.

The selective menu includes sea foods of all kinds, steaks, chops and chicken — all prepared with special attention to individual taste. Two real favorites are Bouillabasse and Crab Cioppino.

Luncheon and dinner are served daily.

Indonesian Dishes Satay House Special

For those who are always on the scout for something different, it would be to your dining advantage to take in the Indonesia Satay House in San Francisco.

Superb Indonesian and Malay dishes are served daily, except Friday, from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Mrs. Marie Pohan is the owner of the Indonesia Satay House, and dinner reservations may be made by contacting her at 431-8075.

Southerners And Northerners Enjoy New Southern

Considering the geographical fact that the Peninsula is not really North of the Mason-Dixon line, why is it that good Southern-style cooking is still almost as difficult to find as prisoners of war were when Grant took Richmond?

Fortunately, Peninsulans have the advantage of having in their midst the New Southern restaurant, which has been a dining landmark in South San Francisco since 1937.

Owners Reno and Julio Denati, and Nick Sbarra carry on the leisurely dining traditions of the "South" by maintaining a menu of favorite southern dishes, plus many Continental entrees for dining variety.

Although the dining area has a cosmopolitan air about it, there are still many traces of the true "Old Southern" atmosphere. A nostalgic painting of a steamer cruising down a lazy river hangs behind the bar in the lounge.

Nightly sing-alongs around the sensational Chamberlin organ (at one end of the lounge) are enjoyed by those who sip cool drinks before and after dinner.

Bouzouki Orchestra Balkan Village

"Yasoo," the Greek word for "Cheers," describes the experience of dinner and entertainment at the Balkan Village in Los Altos, a unique Grecian and Middle Eastern restaurant.

From the moment you arrive, you are under the warm, hospitable spell of Louie Gundapan, owner, dancer, part-time chef, and soon-to-be Broadway performer.

A bouzouki orchestra entertains as the Happy Greek does his famed Greek Table Dance. Join in the dancing — because informal folk dance lessons are given each evening. Open daily except Monday from 5 p.m. Children are welcome.

New Banquet Room Ready For "Banquet Deposits" At Shadows-San Mateo

Dave Rasmussen, owner of The Shadows in downtown San Mateo, invites you to inspect his new Banquet Room, one of the finest banquet rooms in the Bay Area.

Occupying almost the entire ground floor of the former Crocker-Citizens National Bank Building, the new Banquet Room provides seating for more than 250 people.

Elegant Dining Moderate Prices The Lamp Post

"Elegance for less," is the motto at San Mateo's bustling Lamp Post Steak House. After opening in the fall of last year, the Lamp Post has rapidly developed into a haven for budget-conscious diners.

Although the restaurant's interior borders on the elegant, the prices for the menu fare are not in the same category. At the Lamp Post, two items dominate the menu: New York Steak and Spareribs, both tabbed at $1.59.

All steaks are prepared over the Lamp Post's gigantic charcoal broiler, which is a "one of a kind" on the local dining scene.

Both luncheon and dinner are served at the Lamp Post, with the "Steak House" theme being prevalent at both meals.

Located between 27th and 28th Avenues, on El Camino, plenty of free parking is always available in front of the restaurant.

The Lamp Post, by the way, is another Bartels and Blaine operation.

Castanets and olays greet you the moment you enter the door. Your heart skips a beat as the fast-moving all-Mexican floor-show, featuring acts that come from many Latin countries, gets under way.

Complete Mexican and American dinners served from 6 p.m. to 3 a.m. daily, except Sunday. No cover charge for dinners. Three floor shows nightly.

Representing an investment of more than $150,000, the spacious new dining facility carries out a natural used-brick and redwood decor with luxurious red velvet drapes and deep-piled carpeting — all accented by special indirect lighting.

An excellent dance floor is provided for festive occasions. Music is available through one of the most modern 3M installations in the area. Sound can be directed so that background dinner music can be heard in the dining area, while music is directed to the dance floor with no interference of sound.

So that group meetings will not affect the smooth-running service of The Shadows, a completely new kitchen and rotisserie has been installed to exclusively serve the new banquet room parties. All types of food are served, including The Shadows' famous German menu or conventional menu.

The Banquet Room is accessible directly through The Shadows dining room, with parking facilities conveniently provided in the new Crocker-Citizens parking area just across Ellsworth Street.

Key executives in the expanded operation, in addition to Rasmussen, include William Mills, executive chef; George McCammon, general manager, and Walter Gum. Daisa I. Lawson is catering manager for the banquet room.

Don't forget, The Shadows has also entered the catering business. The organization is now equipped to serve all types of group functions at any time of day or evening, including barbecues, when held at any outside location.

Frank's Now Full Scale Operation

Tony Accardo, host-owner of Frank's New York Italian restaurant, is well on the way of setting a record of sorts.

Only last year, this Millbrae restaurant was a "pizza-type" house specializing in various kinds of pizza. Although business was good, he decided to try his hand with a full-scale dining operation.

Adding a wide range of Italian and Continental dishes to the menu, Tony has discovered that diners looking for outstanding food totally outnumber "just pizza" customers.

Such delicate dining delights as Lobster "Fra Diavolo," Saltimbocca a La Romana and Scaloppini A La Dore are now served at Frank's.

Fabbro's Dates Back to 1934

Fabbro's, a fine Redwood City restaurant specializing in Italian food, dates back to 1934, when owner Frank Fabbro's father and mother opened the original Fabbro's.

The restaurant's complete dinner menu is, as many say, a "specialty of the house." Featured are such items as Chicken Cacciatore and Veal Scallopini. For those addicted to Neptune's delights, Abalone Steak and Lobster Tail are also available. Steak lovers are also favored, as a Filet Mignon or New York Cut both run under $5.

Fabbro's dining atmosphere is relaxed and informal. The tables are covered with bright checkered tablecloths, and unusual works of art adorn the walls.

Master mixologist and "self-styled" sports commentator Tommy Phipps, is on hand to discuss the current pennant race or a winning horse, while mixing your cocktails.

Oliver's Enjoys Expanding Spree

Oliver's on Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco carries with it a tradition of 39 years of good dining. Famous for steaks and Italian dishes, owner Fred Martinelli has developed his restaurant into being one of the busiest dining houses on the Peninsula.

A favorite stop for the area's sportsmen (Oliver's chefs prepare their wild game), both luncheons and dinners are served.

In the adjoining cocktail lounge (around lunchtime), you're likely to see almost anyone of importance from the South City area relaxing and conversing on daily topics.

Now in the third year of Fred's ownership, the restaurant's banquet facilities have been remodeled on several occasions — and another expansion program is now on the drawing board.

Proudly Announce the Opening of THE BANK ROOM

WEDDING SHOWER—First banquet to be held in The Shadows' luxurious new "Bank Room" was given by Mrs. Richard Mazzoni and Miss Denise Casagrande of San Mateo in honor of Miss Connie Dulaney, a Walnut Creek resident, who will soon become Mrs. Dennis Casagrande. In attendance were relatives and friends. The "Bank Room" provides an ideal setting for all special functions.

Huge Murals At Renaissance Depict Russian Life

Dining at the Renaissance in San Francisco is like turning back the clock to the colorful days of Thirteenth Century Russia.

The walls of this famous medieval restaurant are decorated with huge murals depicting life in Russia during the time of the first Czars.

Strolling violin and accordion players enhance the romantic atmosphere with Gypsy music nightly from 7 p.m.

The menu is a gourmet's delight, featuring superb dishes from every state in Russia. For a memorable dinner, owner-host Boris Vertloogin suggests you begin with Chornaya Ikra (black Caviar), followed by Borscht (Russian soup), and Shashlik Karsky (rack of lamb) as the piece de resistance.

A luscious dessert such as Baklava will provide a delicious finale to a superb dinner.

Millbrae Kings Bowl Complex Also Houses Blue Peacock Restaurant

Although quite well known by the athletic-minded people who frequently utilize the exceptional recreational facilities at Millbrae's Kings Bowl, there are still many Peninsulans who don't realize that the complex also houses the plush Blue Peacock restaurant and cocktail lounge.

Completely separated from the bustling bowling alley is a complete lounge and dining operation. Chef Bill Marsh is the man responsible for the food fare, while Bar Manager Lou Dapelo takes care of the lounge duties.

On weekends, the soft dance tunes of the Fabulous Romanos are featured for dinner-dancing.

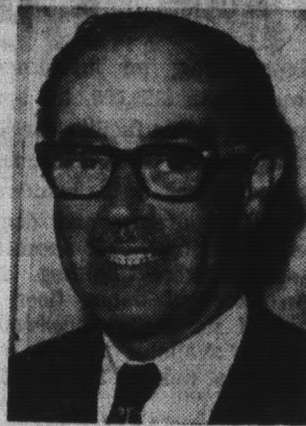

The complete Kings Bowl operation is under the guidance of General Manager Fred Masberg.

Genial Lou Romson, "Mr. Bagel" of San Mateo, is credited with bringing the first large scale Kosher-style food production to our fair city when he opened his Brothers restaurant and delicatessen on Third Avenue, a few short years ago, and business has increased two-fold ever since.

Whether you prefer to eat in or take food out, there are countless menu tempters to fill the bill.

Power of Goodwill Blended With Good Food at Matterhorn

The Matterhorn, Burlingame's distinguished Swiss restaurant, offers a gastronomical experience to patrons who desire far more than the ordinary.

From the distinctive European graciousness of owners Wilfried and Marion Blarer, to the intriguing coats of arms adorning the walls, The Matterhorn affords a dining atmosphere expected to be found only in the magnificent surroundings of the famed Swiss Alps.

Matterhorn patrons agree that the authentic Swiss dishes on Chef Wilfried's menu are true gourmet delights. Two of the restaurant's most exciting dishes are Cheese Fondue and Fondue Bourguignonne. Both are served for two, and, if desired, prepared at your own table.

A complete wine list of imported and domestic vintages, plus fine label beer is also available to complement your meal.

Franciscan S.F. Port of Call

Affording a view of sight-seeing boats bustling around the Bay, and ocean liners steaming through the Golden Gate, the three-tiered elevated dining room of the Franciscan on Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco is an exciting tourist curiosity.

A well-qualified staff, under the direction of owners George Skaff, Chef Bill Harper and George Burger, is pleased to serve you.

The Skunk Tours 40-Mile Historic Colorful Trip

"It's like a fairy tale come true. 'It's like a trip through an enchanted kingdom.' 'It's the most rewarding thing I've ever done' ... these are just a few of the remarks heard on the affectionately named 'Skunk' trains as they wend their leisurely way through California's spectacularly impressive Redwood Empire.

For railroad buffs and youngsters growing up in a jet travel age, just the train trip itself is a unique experience. But with their front and side windows, the Skunks are perfectly mated to put you in the front row of one of Nature's most majestic shows.

The self-powered rail cars called Skunks were inaugurated in 1925 by the California Western Railroad, linking historic Fort Bragg with Willits, 40 miles inland along a route through magnificent wilderness scenery inaccessible to auto travel. The little trains were nicknamed for their original gas engines prompting folks to say, "You can smell 'em before you can see 'em!"

Beginning in 1965, the CWR added an authentic, old-time passenger train called the "Super Skunk." Powered by a Mikado type steam locomotive almost a half-century old, the Super Skunk is the only regularly scheduled, standard-gauge steam train passenger service in the West.

Steaks and Lobsters Lew Lehr's Specialty

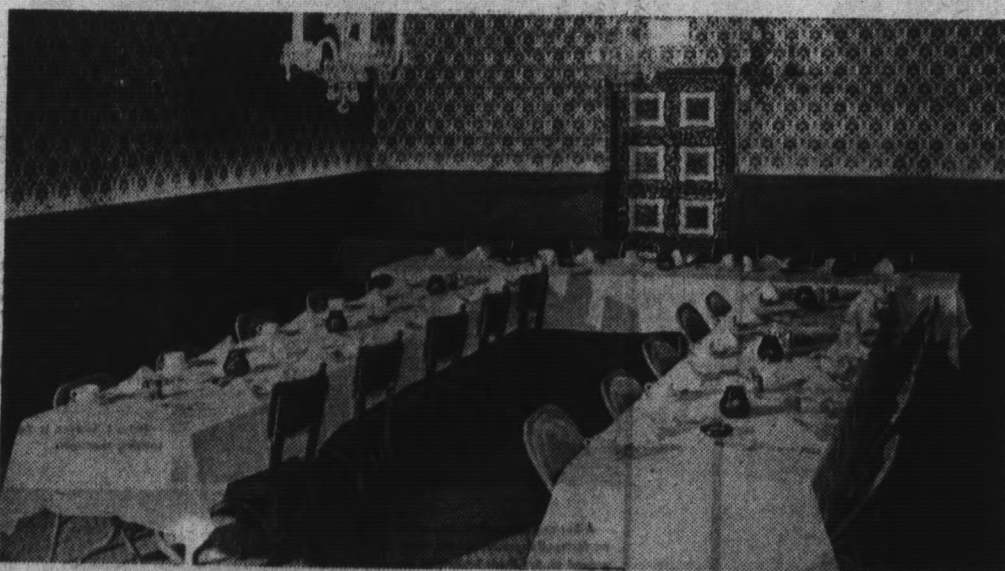

Edith and Lew Lehr have one of the most popular steak houses in San Francisco in their Lew Lehr's in the Marina.

The extra-choice steaks are cut to your order. The dinner includes a fresh greens salad with your choice of dressings, a baked potato stuffed with sour cream and chives, an hors d'oeuvres dish and beverage.

Lehr's also serves Broiled Lobster Tails with the same complete dinner.

Open nightly, except Monday, from 5 p.m.; Sundays from 4 p.m. Banquet room for parties to 35 persons. Entire restaurant available for parties to 125 persons on Mondays.

Fork 'n' Cork "CRYSTAL ROOM"

The "Crystal Room" is the newest addition to San Mateo's Fork 'n' Cork restaurant. Ideal for any type of business or social function, the plush banquet facility can accommodate up to 75 persons. The room may be reserved by calling the restaurant and asking for either Julie Preul or Elma Mendola.

FISHERMAN'S WHARF

Meet Mr. George M. Mardikian . . .

Restaurateur, Author, Farmer, Food Consultant

During the 16 years of covering restaurants, night clubs and resorts — from Florida to San Mateo and most points East and West, your Bright Lighter has had the pleasure of meeting many great and not-so-great personalities in the news.

One individual who will always be foremost in mind is George Mardikian, who owns and operates the world-famed Omar Khayyam's restaurant in San Francisco. This is just one of his many occupations, but one that is a first love to him.

No adjective can really describe this outstanding American citizen. But to help better acquaint you with this gentle man who is a great humanitarian, I include a few remarks from other admirers.

"A solemn young Armenian with a mind full of bitter memories arrived in America in the summer of 1922. When he reached San Francisco he saw crowds in a gay holiday mood. He was rather shocked — grown men and women laughing, singing, behaving like children.

"He did not mention his disappointment to his brother and sister, who had become Americans already. But in his room that night he lay brooding in the darkness over those frivolous people who seemed unaware that the world was full of suffering and tragedy. When day-break came, he dressed quietly and tiptoed from his sister's flat for a long walk and another look at the heartless city.

"The sun was already in the sky, but the old houses along Sutter Street seemed still asleep. In the morning quiet the boy heard the small sounds of the workaday city stirring, slowly coming to life.

"He passed a street cleaner sweeping the gutter, and he heard the man humming a gay tune. This fellow with such a low job — what did he have to sing about?

"Two big policemen sauntered down the street, and as they passed they gave the boy a cheery good morning.

"Men in work clothes, carrying lunch pails, came from the houses and gathered in friendly groups on the street corners. A cable car groaned up the hill, and the motorman waved to the workers and stamped on his foot gong, not to warn anyone but just to make music.

GEORGE MARDIKIAN

"The boy heard clapping hoofs, and turned to see a milk wagon stop before a house. The whistling milkman deposited bottles on the doorstep, then went off. Precious milk Wouldn't somebody steal it?

"The boy's head was spinning; but now there was music in his heart. He turned and ran, and arrived in his sister's flat breathless.

"Sister! Brother Arshag! Listen!" he exclaimed. "I've just heard the most beautiful music in the world — the Song of America!"

"At breakfast he told them: 'You know something? They're not crazy, these Americans. We are the crazy ones, we people in Europe who go on feeling sorry for ourselves. I want to be an American, another happy, hard-working American!'

"I, George Mardikian, was that heavyhearted Armenian boy who discovered this happy land on that summer morning nearly 35 years ago. And the Song of America has grown lovelier and more inspiring with each passing year."

Having worked in San Francisco restaurants from 1922 to 1928, Mr. Mardikian was a steward on a round-the-world cruise in 1928. In 1930, he opened his first Omar Khayyam's restaurant in Fresno; his second in Fresno (1935), and his third in San Francisco (1938). Also to his dining credit was the opening in 1940 of a chain of sandwich shops called "Chestnut Tree."

George Mardikian worked with Near East Relief and former President Herbert Hoover's 1920-22 in the Caucasus Region.

From 1942 through 1954, his work as an expert Food Consultant to the United States Army won him the admiration of all servicemen. He is known as "The GI's Chow Champion."

Former Presidents Herbert Hoover, Harry Truman, and Dwight D. Eisenhower have commended Mr. Mardikian for conservation and betterment of Army food.

Author of "Dinner At Omar Khayyam's," and "Song of America," Mardikian has contributed articles to "The Readers Digest" and several other publications.

Appearing on many radio and television programs, coast to coast, Mardikian was also the subject of Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" TV program.

Is it any wonder we suggest you make it a point to meet George Mardikian during one of your dine-out evenings in Omar Khayyam's restaurant, located at Powell and O'Farrell.

Rowan And Martin Will Sock It To You At The Sparks Nugget

"Sock-it-to-me" and "Here-come-the-judge," as ridiculous as it sounds, are now a familiar part of the American language.

It is all due to two comics by the name of Dan Rowan and Dick Martin and a retinue of unforgettable characters on their Monday night "Laugh-In" television series.

Visitors to the Circus Room of John Ascuaga's Nugget in Sparks, will be "Laughing In" in person, with the likes of Rowan and Martin, wide-eyed Goldie Hawn, hairnetted Ruth Buzzi, soft-spoken poet Henry Gibson, and newcomer Dave Madden.

Back on the nitery circuit for the summer, the Rowan and Martin "Laugh-In" pandemonium will continue on the Nugget stage for three weeks, through July 17.

Joining the "Sock-it-to-me" gang are the Nugget's own talented pachyderms, Bertha, and her brand-new playmate, Tina.

Mapes Hotel Invites You To "The Party" Full Hour of Fun

Currently headlining in the Casino Showroom of the Reno Mapes Hotel is "The Party," which is billed as a mini-musi affair.

Combining some of the best in sight gag and one-liner routines of the Emmy Award winning "Laugh-In," The Party really moves for the full hour that it is on the Mapes stage.

Backing this production of 12 people is the sensational Oriental act, The Tokyo Playmates, which continues to do holdover business in the Casino Showroom.

Live entertainment is rounded out by Joe Karnes at the keyboard of the piano bar in the Coach Room of the hotel. Karnes is at his familiar stand of eleven years every night and plays for requests, singalongs and for dancing on the popular new Mapes pocket-size dance floor.

"The Party" is another entertainment innovation on the part of Reno hotelier Charles Mapes. Mapes was the first to bring the big name acts to Reno when his Sky Room was open, he had the first lounge entertainment in the Casinos of Reno, and carried successfully through such phases as the discotheque and psychedelic offerings.

"The Party" is just that, a bunch of swingin', singin' people getting together on the stage to have a ball together and with the audience. The cast consists of nine talented young people, five gals and four boys, and three strong musicians. They're all singers, dancers, comedians and actors. They present today's concept in shows for today's nite spots for today's people. The girls are equally pretty, cute and sexy. The boys are handsome, funny and wild. There is something for everyone at the party, as put on by Kathy Carson, Albert Paris, Sherrell Paris, Ray Rappa, Jan Reeves, Pamela Rowen, Walter Rowen, Oscar Williams and Billy Yuro and produced by Dave Ott and Ron Stanton.

Triple S Ranch American Plan

Located in the picturesque Sonoma mountains and open to the public is the Triple S Ranch, where horses, hiking and swimming are the only "required" activities on a typical day's agenda.

On the American plan, the dining room and cocktail bar is the center for evening socializing while all other activities take place under the sun.

Henry Mancini Takes Over The Spotlight

One musical genius after another. One great performer after another. One record-breaker after another.

That's what Hotel Sahara-Tahoe has to offer in the High Sierra Theater as Henry Mancini takes over the spotlight through July 15 with his 40-piece orchestra and the new singing sensation group, Our Young Generation.

In Liberace and Mancini, Sahara-Tahoe Entertainment Director Arvid Nelson booked the two hottest recording artists back-to-back.

In 1966, Mancini set the all-time attendance record for Nevada by attracting 44,000 persons in 42 performances in the world's largest and most luxurious theater-restaurant, the High Sierra Theater, where he received 10-minute standing ovation.

Novelites Show Stoppers at Crystal Bay Club

Now appearing at North Lake Tahoe's Crystal Bay Club are The Novelites, the show-stopping comedy riots who are the surprise hit of the season.

Raising a storm of laughter, Joe Mayer, Chuck Leonard, and Frankie Carr, three youngish vets who have well developed comedy and musical magic, are top song sellers.

Charles Gould and the Satin Strings, violinists, stroll through the cocktail lounges and dining rooms playing musical strains of today and yesterday.

Make a date to spend some of your summer vacation at North Lake Tahoe's Crystal Bay Club and catch this great show.

Cocktails, a variety of fine restaurants, and gaming in the casino.

GIRLS, GIRLS, GIRLS — A bevy of beauties from the cast of "Vive Les Girls" Revue, which is now attracting the crowds to Nevada Lodge, located on the North side of beautiful Lake Tahoe in Nevada. Producer of this fast-moving show is Frederic Apar.

Exciting 'Vive Les Girls' Revue Swings Into High Gear at Nevada Lodge

After a gala and sensational opening last Thursday night, the excitingly continental, adults-only "Vive Les Girls" revue swings into its summer-long run at North Lake Tahoe's Nevada Lodge.

Producer Frederic Apar brings the sophisticated revue to the Nevada Lodge stage for the sixth year... the 1968 edition being entirely new, and featuring some of the most beautiful showgirls in the world, and starring singers Grant Griffin and Line Turner.

After the first few days, audiences and critics alike have hailed the 1968 "Vive Les Girls" as the most exciting ever. The revue is a dynamic potpourri of adult entertainment. From the opening fanfare to the closing finale, the Nevada Lodge stage is brilliantly alive with stunning women, lavishly costumed; spectacular production numbers, choreographed in the tradition of the French Folies Bergere; remarkable vocal talents in the persons of Grant Griffin and lovely Line Turner; intriguing specialty numbers covering the range of stand-up comics and bewildering magicians.

"Vive Les Girls" is staged nightly in Nevada Lodge's Topaz Room. Billing stars singers Grant Griffin and Line Turner, and co-stars comic Beryl Williams and magician Ken Alan. Joan Pelethorpe is the lead dancer, with Ron Watson as her male counterpart; their interpretive dance duets are a spectacular highlight of the revue.

Enjoy The Rugged Scenery Of Hiway 108

Fifty miles of the most rugged and beautiful scenery in California are only a few hours away from the Bay Area — along Highway 108 from Strawberry - Pinecrest junction to the top of Sonora Pass in the Stanislaus National Forest.

If you like water, you'll see the Stanislaus River in varying moods, particularly now when the spring run-off is heavy. Or from Donnell Outlook, you can look down at Donnell Lake, a good mile away, surrounded by massive cliffs.

If you like mountains, you'll look miles across from Beardsley Outlook to the Majestic Dardanelles, with the volcanic cone reminder of a former geologic age. And you drive on up the highway, often one-way around a sheer mountain side, to the 9,628-foot Sonora Pass, feeling cramped at times by the man-made highway cuts through stone or a little edgy from thousand foot drops below.

From the moment you first stop at the Strawberry Ridge to see fishing on the south fork of the Stanislaus River, you will be in and out of your car. Next logical stop is Beardsley Outlook, then on to Donnell Outlook, where the closeup to the Dardanelles gives more definition to its volcanic origin.

Donnell Outlook is one of the best small recreational facilities built by the U.S. Forest Service. An asphalt road takes you around pines and rock to a 15-space parking area. A few picnic tables are placed for strategic scenery advantage; the inevitable but modern restrooms are also in evidence.

NEVADA LODGE

At The Beautiful
North End of Lake Tahoe

RENO'S NEWEST AND TALLEST HOTEL will be this 24-floor, 342 room tower hotel to be built by Harrah's.

Harrah's to Construct New Reno Hotel

William Harrah, owner of Harrah's clubs of Reno and Lake Tahoe, announced that construction will begin on a Harrah's hotel in downtown Reno. The steel and concrete structure will be built on the site of the property leased almost two years ago from Bill and Jim Tomerlin which they operated as the Golden Hotel.

The announcement ended speculation surrounding Harrah's plans for a hotel in the Reno area. When the building is finished, it will be 325 feet high, making it the tallest building in the city.

It was disclosed that several financial institutions are cooperating in the multi-million dollar construction project, with principal arrangements having been made with the First National Bank of Nevada.

The first phase of the construction will include completion of the 24-story tower that will have approximately 342 rentable units. Plans call for a total of 19 floors each with 18 rooms. The other floors will have convention facilities to accommodate 1,000 people; space for administration offices for the hotel; a swimming pool and cabana area; health club and locker rooms; and the existing facilities that include a large theatre-restaurant; Steak House and Garden Room restaurants, beauty shop and barber shop.

George Whiteley, director of construction for Harrah's, said the first thing that will take place in the construction project will be the repairing and reinforcing of the footings already in existence. Then a large steel superstructure, rising some three stories on the present building, will be taken down.

"We will make use of it in other areas of construction," Whiteley explained.

He estimated time for completion of the hotel to be 18 months.

When completed, the hotel will see the Garden Room moved from the present first floor level to the second floor and serviced by an escalator; the Headliner Room enlarged to accommodate 650 or more diners; the entertainers facilities enlarged; and the Casino Cabaret relocated and enlarged to accommodate more patrons.

Although plans for the guest accommodations have not yet been completed, Whiteley revealed the rooms will offer the very latest in customer services and conveniences, "and each room will have its individual air conditioning and heating unit."

Thirty deluxe units, some with kitchens; free coffee; television and a large heated swimming pool are available to guests of the Park Ave. Motel.

"Before long Mardikian's bulky figure and contagious enthusiasm had become a legend among occupation forces. He spent a Christmas, 1946, in Frankfurt, Germany, helping to bake mince pies and baste turkeys. Then one hot summer day troops in the Heartbreak Ridge section of Korea were astonished to see a ruddy-faced heavyweight puffing up trails in frontier posts."

"National Brotherhood Week, which begins today, means a lot to George Mardikian, San Francisco restaurateur. America opened her arms to Mardikian, and he never forgot. In 1947, he founded the National Committee to Aid Homeless Armenians. To date 2,000 have found a new home and a new hope in America — as Mardikian did. That is his way of repaying an act of brotherhood that once saved his life."

LIFE

"A believer in food and people, Mardikian was one of the first to realize both would be great factors in any gathering to determine future international security. He declared, 'A good dinner will put any men in a conciliatory frame of mind. A bad one will make him quarrelsome and disputatious.'"

The Saturday Evening

"... Temperament seasoned with eccentricity, a dash of the poet and whimsy to taste... by these George Mardikian has pyramided a dishwasher's salary into one of the world's fabulous restaurants."

LOOK

"George Mardikian, one of America's most renowned chefs, has shown that good citizenship rates high as good food. Recently he completed his second trip to Europe for the Army at his own expense to brighten up GI chow."
